RICH WIDOW, WHO FOUGHT POLICEMAN IN HOTEL, FINED $10

Mrs. Lillian Koenig Is Granted a Stay on Good Behavior Until Aug. 13.

SHE REFUSES TO TESTIFY

Talks to Judge After Session of Charges That She Wielded Hatpin and Newspapers.

Mrs. Lillian Koenig, the wealthy widow who was arrested at the Hotel Jefferson Wednesday noon after causing a commotion when requested to settle a board bill of $687, was fined $10 and costs in the Municipal Police Court Thursday morning, after she refused to testify. She stated that she did not want to pay her fine, and was placed in a detention room known as "the cooler," until court adjourned.

Then Acting Judge Walker had her brought before him and explain the entire occurrence to him from her viewpoint. He stayed the fine until Aug. 3 upon good behavior and placed her in charge of Mrs. M. G. Jones, parole officer.

Mrs. Koenig was allowed by Chief Young to sign her own bond Wednesday afternoon. At night she went back to the Jefferson, but was refused entrance to her room, as the board bill had not been settled. She then returned to Central police headquarters and was given shelter for the night by the police matron.

In the morning she stated that she was not going to court, and that if the hotel people wanted her there they would have to come after her.

After an hour's argument with the police, in which it was pointed out that she would lose the case by forfeit if she did not attend court, she finally agreed.

Hearing that photographers were waiting outside to "snap" her, she, with a special officer, slipped out the side way into an alley and through the patrol house to Clark avenue.

After arriving in court she announced that she was not going to have a lawyer. When her case was called she was asked to hold up her right hand and be sworn. Becoming confused and nervous, she said:

"I had grounds, I had grounds—"

"That's all right, madame," the clerk said. "But we've got to swear you first." Then she was sworn.

Walter M. Mayn and Charles Frank, attorney and auditor, respectively, for the Hotel Jefferson told on the stand of the affair at the Jefferson as printed in the Post-Dispatch, saying that she had attacked them with a newspaper, folded as a club when they went to her room and requested her to sign over five shares of bank stock which she had offered as security for the board bill.

Traffic Officer Kerls, called in to arrest her, told how she attempted to stab him with a hat pin when he released her hands.

Refuses to Take Stand.

"Do you want to take the stand, madame?" City Attorney Garesche asked Mrs. Koenig, who was sitting with down-cast face in front of the Judge. She made no answer. Again he repeated the question. She only moved slightly in her chair.

"Madame, do you wish to take the stand?" acting Judge Walker inquired.

"No," she answered, in a low tone.

"Ten dollars and costs," he said.

"Your fine totals $13, lady, do you want to pay it?" a deputy asked, as she rose.

"No, I don't want to pay it," she said, and was taken back a prisoner.

When reporters followed her and asked why she did not want to pay her fine, she said: "How can I pay it when I have only a little change in my purse?"

When asked if she wanted to send a message to anyone to pay the fine for her, she said no, that she guessed that she would just wait awhile. When she was released to the parole officer she departed, saying she would report at the proper time.

11 JURORS REPORTED FOR ACQUITTAL OF PETRAS

One Man Said to Be Firm Against Man Accused of Killing Girl in Cemetary.

GENEVA, Ill., July 9.—The jury into whose hands the fate of Anton Petras was given yesterday afternoon had not returned a verdict at 10 a. m. today, although they were to have reported at 9:30 o'clock.

One juror, Homer Eddy, an elderly retired farmer of Geneva, was reported the only one of the 12 men who held that Petras was the man who clubbed Theresa Hollander to death in St. Nicholas Cemetery, Aurora, last winter.

The most vociferous argument, it was said, failed to budge him. The arguments of the jury were so loud last night they could be heard on the ground four stories below.

Woman Is Drowned, Two Companions Escape, $5000 Goes Down With Machine.

KENNET, Cal., July 9.—Mrs. Elizabeth Webber of Berkeley was drowned late yesterday at the end of a wild ride down a mountain side in an uncontrollable automobile, which, at the bank of the Sacramento River, leaped across a flat ferryboat and plunged into the river.

With Mrs. Webber in the automobile were Z. K. Horton and his mother, Mrs. C. E. Horton. They swam ashore, but Mrs. Webber was carried down a rapids and drowned. Her body was found four hours later at Keswick, 12 miles below.

Five thousand dollars in currency lies at the bottom of the river in the wrecked automobile.

PEDDLER USES COWBELL TO DRAW TRADE, IS FINED

Prosecuted Under Anti-Noise Ordinance, Though Punished for Having No License.

Louis Nick, an ice cream peddler, arrested because he used a cowbell to call attention to his wares, was fined $5 in the Dayton Street Police Court Thursday when it was shown that in addition to making a loud and unusual noise with the bell he had neglected to display a vehicle license tag on his push cart.

Nick, who was unable to speak English testified through an interpreter that the cart was furnished by an ice cream company and he didn't know he needed a license to push it. Neither did he know it was against the law to push his business with a cowbell.

The case was prosecuted by Assistant City Attorney Sadler, who recently had an anti-noise ordinance introduced in the Municipal Assembly.

The police recently have been active in looking for opportunities to test the peace disturbance law as applied to unusual noises.

The ice cream peddler's arrest was made solely because he used a cowbell, but his fine was based on his lack of vehicle license. Judge Saunders, however, warned him not to ring a cowbell in the city streets again.

BOY LOSES $15 IN AN OLD CONFIDENCE GAME

Israel Sheehan, 11 years old, of 2105 Carr street, was sent by his father Wednesday afternoon to pay an insurance premium. The boy carried the $15 in one hand. At Eighth and Locust streets he was accosted by a young man who asked him what he had there. Israel said it was money. The young man wanted to know how much and the boy said it was $15.

"You are the boy we are looking for," said the young man. "We want to test you. Give me the $15 to hold for you and go to the top floor of this building and ask for Mr. Wilson. He will give you a pair of shoes and $15.35."

It looked like a clear profit of one pair of shoes and 35 cents to Israel. He handed over the $15 and went to the top floor of the Mercantile National Bank Building and asked for Mr. Wilson. There was no Wilson there. Israel told some persons there about the young man and they told a policeman, who looked for the young man but did not find him.

BUSINESS BETTER, HENRY FORD TELLS PRESIDENT WILSON

Automobile Maker Sees No Evidence of Depression, Psychological or Otherwise.

ANTI-TRUST BILL TALKS

Conference of Executive With Chicago Men May Change Trade Commission Measure.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Optimistic views of business conditions were presented to President Wilson today by Henry Ford, the Detroit automobile manufacturer, during an hour's conference at the White House. Ford told the President he saw no evidences of any sort of business depression, psychological or otherwise, and said that in his opinion business was getting better.

"There is absolutely nothing wrong with business," Ford told the President. "The only trouble is that some people seem pessimistic. If everyone would only cheer up and attend to their business this calamity talk would stop immediately."

The President and Ford discussed the trust bills in a general way, as well as the business situation.

Officials close to the President said he was greatly encouraged by his talk with Ford, and that he had been further strengthened in his determination to push the trust program during the present session of Congress.

Ford refused to discuss his call, saying that talk of business depression was unworthy of denial.

President Wilson's conference with Ford was in continuation of his informal conferences with the heads of "big business" to discuss generally industrial and financial conditions of the country.

He was prepared today to see beside Ford a committee of bankers from Illinois and a delegation representing the National Association of State Bank Supervisors. The administration's anti-trust program was expected to form an important part of the discussion.

Ford had been invited by the President to luncheon at the White House.

Today's engagement was the third in the series of conferences the President had arranged to talk over with leaders in the industrial and financial world general business conditions as well as measures in Congress.

Conferred With Morgan.

Recently he conferred with J. P. Morgan and yesterday discussed with representatives of the Chicago Association of Commerce proposed anti-trust legislation and business conditions in a general way. The President has expressed the feeling that these conferences have been mutually instructive and helpful.

One direct result of the conference with the Chicago business men is the possibility that the Trade Commission bill, which has passed the House and is now pending in the Senate, may be modified as to details. To that end the Chicagoans remained in Washington and were expected to confer today with Representative Covington of Maryland, author of the House Trade Commission bill. The President arranged for the conference.

Trade Commission Favored.

The delegation told the President that they favored the Trade Commission bill, but suggested certain modifications which they contended would make it a "strengthening agency, helpful to all business."

They advocated a Trade Commission with broad powers of investigation and authority to order the discontinuance of practices contrary to law. They objected to making all corporations return annual reports to the Commission, and thought too many definitions of illegal practices were unnecessary.

After listening carefully to their arguments, the President wired Representative Covington at his Maryland home to come to Washington to confer with the delegation.

"Immunity Baths" Opposed.

The Chicago business men were prolific in ideas on the subject of corporations.

In the first place, they wanted to have the commission given the power to give a certificate of character to a corporation which it had investigated that would prevent the Department of Justice from bringing an anti-trust suit.

Other suggestions looked toward the complete divorcement of the trade commission from the influence of the Attorney-General. In other words, they wanted to make the word of the commission supreme with regard to the prosecution of corporations for restraint of trade.

The President pointed out, in response, that the Congress could not by legislative action deprive the Attorney-General of his constitutional power to seek the punishment by the courts of corporations believed to have violated the law. He indicated quite clearly, in addition, that he would not favor conferring the power of giving "immunity baths" on the commission. The President believed that a commission with these gigantic powers would overshadow almost every other body in the Government.

KILCULLIN BACK AT WORK AS AUDIT OF BOOKS GOES ON

Chief Deputy Sheriff Returns to Oversee Execution Sales; Won't Discuss Investigation.

FUNDS NOW $3000 SHORT

Checking Up of Accounts Expected to Be Completed Friday, Sheriff Says.

Thomas B. Kilcullin, chief deputy and execution deputy in Sheriff Dickman's office, appeared at the Courthouse at 10:45 a. m. Thursday, removed his coat and took up the duties of the office while expert accountants were still going over his books after having found, thus far, a shortage of $3010 in his accounts.

Until his reappearance at his desk it was said Kilcullin was in the country and efforts to obtain a statement from him at his home, 2715 Madison street, were unsuccessful.

The inspection of Kilcullin's accounts is still under way and will be completed Friday.

Oversees Execution Sales.

His appearance at the courthouse was in accordance with a promise which he made to Sheriff Dickmann Tuesday. Several execution sales were set for noon at the east door of the courthouse and Kilcullin was the only employe of the office who knew the details as to the property offered for sale. Though taking an enforced vacation at Sheriff Dickmann's request, the first in 18 years, he agreed to oversee these sales.

From the moment he arrived at his desk he was busy giving instructions to other deputies. When asked by reporters for a statement as to the shortage in his accounts he said: "I am too busy now to talk. And if I wasn't busy there wouldn't be anything for me to say. I don't care to make a statement."

Dickmann when asked whether he would take the initiative in asking for the prosecution of any one found responsible for the shortage said that at the present stage of the investigation the matter of asking for warrants was in the hands of the bonding company. He added that no prosecution would be attempted until the exact amount of the shortage was determined.

Cries Sale as Usual.

Kilcullin instructed Joseph Dickmann Jr., son of the Sheriff, how to conduct the real estate sales at the east front door of the courthouse, and Dickmann conducted them, with Kilcullin standing behind him and prompting him. When it came to selling a stock of saloon goods in the basement, Dickmann turned it over to Kilcullin, who cried the stuff in the usual auctioneer jargon, jollying the bidders and entering into the spirit of the business with his usual thoroughness.

At Kilcullin's home earlier in the day it was said he was still away. A 19-year-old son said Mrs. Kilcullin also was away from home, as she had gone to a picnic early in the morning.

No Grand Jury Action Now.

Circuit Attorney Harvey, Thursday, said no grand jury investigation of the shortage in the Sheriff's office could be made until September, when the jury reconvenes.

"When the grand jury is not in session I have no power to examine witnesses under oath," he said. "I asked the Legislature for that power, but it would not grant it. If anyone interested should desire to start a prosecution before September an information could be issued and the person accused could be put under a bond, which would hold him until the grand jury reconvenes."

Dickmann now says his suspicion as to Kilcullin was aroused by other things besides the fact that Kilcullin never would take a vacation or a Saturday half-holiday. Several times recently, he said, lawyers have complained that Kilcullin had failed to account or was slow in accounting for moneys obtained in satisfaction of judgments.

The Sheriff said he knew Kilcullin played poker, but that he "didn't mind a little poker playing." It was different, he said, when he observed that Kilcullin was a daily reader of a paper devoted to horse racing. He then suspected that Kilcullin was gambling to an extent not justified by his $200 a month salary.

NOTHING TO SAY, NOT A WORD, SAYS GOVERNOR FRANCIS

Smashing of Glass in Door of Street Car Trivial, He Tells New York Reporter.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 9.—When the Post-Dispatch correspondent sought to talk with former Gov. David R. Francis over the phone this afternoon about his breaking a glass in a door of a new closed-door street car on the Olive-Maryland line last Thursday, he was peeved. The weather is very sultry today and Wall street is even "sultrier" and the former Governor does not like to be disturbed when at his brokers. And anyway things appear different after a week passes. Anyhow, here's the conservation:

"Governor, this is the Post-Dispatch correspondent. I would like to get your version of that street car incident in St. Louis: Let me read a telegram——

"Don't do it, needn't do it; is that all you called me up for; that happened a week ago; it's too trivial; I won't talk about it."

"But, Governor, owing to your prominence in St. Louis, even the trivial things have their interest."

The Governor's telephone voice lost some of its pleasanter melody and this sizzling—maybe it was only the heat in the telephone booth, for it is a sultry day—sarcasm came in zigzag and forked waves.

"You know, of course, that the Post-Dispatch has always been my friend?"

"But, Governor, this is such a human interest kind of an incident"——

"Won't talk about it; too trivial; good day."

And the wire went dead and stayed dead.

It sure is a sultry day.

Francis Won't Have to Pay for Glass in Door He Smashed.

Whatever may be the ultimate result of the precedent Francis established by smashing a street car door which had been closed in his face, he will not have to pay for the glass or make any amends to the United Railways. This was admitted Thursday by Supt. Cameron.

Although the incident happened a week ago, Supt. Cameron and President McCulloch still professed ignorance of it. But a Post-Dispatch reporter learned James Sanders of 6121 Ella avenue was the conductor on the car, No. 325, on the Olive-Maryland line, and he told his story of the incident.

It was about 6:15 p. m., Conductor Sanders said, when the car was leaving Fourth and Olive streets, that a man whom he did not know ran up and requested him to open the door.

Sanders replied he could not open it until the car stopped at Fourth and Locust, the next corner. The man continued walking alongside the car, which was moving slowly. But when the car picked up a little speed and the man began to fall behind, he grasped a cane

WIFE HELPS MAN CATCH THIEVES IN NEIGHBOR'S HOME

Two, Armed, Surprise Daylight Burglar After Woman Sees Them Enter House.

Edward Herman, proprietor of a saloon at 3648 Hebert street, and his wife, armed with revolvers, caught two daylight burglars in the house across the street, 3649, shortly before noon Thursday.

The family living at 3649 is away from home, and Mrs. Herman, from apartments over the saloon, saw two young men at the side of the house, looking in at the windows. She watched them from her window as they assured themselves there was no one in the house. Then she saw them go to the front door and open it, apparently with a skeleton key.

As soon as they had entered the house they pulled down the front shades. This convinced Mrs. Herman that they were robbers, and she ran downstairs to the saloon and told her husband what she had seen. He put his revolver in his pocket and started across the street, and she took another revolver and followed him.

Thieves Encountered in Hallway.

Herman marched into the house through the unlocked front door. In the second floor hallway he came upon the two men, who had pulled out bureau drawers in the search for plunder. They tried to get out by a back window, and broke the glass, but Herman shouted to them that if they went further he would fire. Then they stopped, and Herman seized one man and marched the other ahead of him down the stairway.

The man in front seemed to think he would have a chance to run when he got to the foot of the stairs, but when he looked outside he changed his mind. Mrs. Herman was standing there, pointing her revolver at him.

Letter Carrier Gives Assistance.

A letter carrier was the first person to offer help to the Hermans, though they did not seem so much in need of help as their prisoners. The carrier held the two men, while Herman and his wife kept their weapons handy and neighbors called a policeman.

At the Dayton Street Station the prisoners said they were H. C. Press, 18 years old, of 819 North Twentieth street, and Arthur W. Wilson, 18, of 1520 Locust street. The police say both admitted having been in the house for the purpose of burglary. They said they had been in no trouble before, except that Press was once arrested for fighting. Press had a silver dollar tied in a blue ribbon, which was said to have come from the house, and Wilson had a bracelet, fob, watch chain and cuff buttons which were said to have been taken there. Neither was armed.

STATE DOUBTFUL OF CASE AGAINST DR. CARMAN'S WIFE

Assistant Prosecutor Says It Is Not Certain That Evidence Will Warrant Indictment Against Her for Murder of Mrs. Bailey in Doctor's Office.

PRISONER COLLAPSES ON HUSBAND'S VISIT

Woman's Lawyer Declares He Has Found Two Witnesses Against Her Were Not Near Home at Time of the Killing.

MINEOLA, L. I., July 9.—It is not at all certain that there will be enough evidence for a grand jury indictment against Mrs. Florence Carman, charged with the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey, who yesterday was committed to the county jail, awaiting an examination. This was the opinion that Assistant District Attorney Weeks expressed today.

Mrs. Carman's case was expected to come up before the grand jury late today, but, according to Weeks, there was little likelihood of an indictment today. The number of witnesses to be examined would preclude this possibility today.

"It is not unlikely," said the Assistant District Attorney, "that when Mrs. Carman appears on Monday before Coroner Norton, who will then be acting in the capacity of Justice of the Peace, she will be discharged."

Dr. Carman Visits Wife.

At that time Mrs. Carman's attorney will have a right to cross examine the witnesses who testify against the prisoner. Dr. Carman, who has come to Mineola for the day, found his wife in better spirits when he visited her in jail. She seemed to have recovered her composure and to be less nervous.

After her husband left her Mrs. Carman broke down in her cell and her condition became so acute that the prison authorities called in the staff physician. She was taken to the Warden's office where she became quiter after sedatives had been given to her. She refused, however, to go to bed.

George Levy, attorney for Mrs. Carman, said today he had discovered two new witnesses whose testimony he considered extremely valuable. He also said he had information that two of the witnesses whose testimony had been instrumental in causing the arrest of Mrs. Carman had been far from the Carman home at the time of the murder.

Gunman Is Locked Up.

Meyer Newman, alias Dude de Leon, was locked up here today charged with carrying a pistol. A 38-caliber revolver was found on him. Newman, who described himself as a gang leader of the Bronx, came to Mineola voluntarily to testify before the grand jury in the Carman case. He announced recently that a friend of his, now in Kansas City, obtained and took away later a pistol for Mrs. Carman. Newman said he was a party to the transaction and "squealed" because he did not get the money promised to him.

Nick Arode, said to be a New York gunman and a friend of Newman's, also was locked up. He was found strolling about town.

MRS. CARMAN WANTS TO TESTIFY

Ready to Waive Immunity and Tell of Happenings Before and After Murder.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FREEPORT, N. Y., July 9.—Mrs. Edwin Carman, who is in jail here charged with the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey, on June 30, has waived immunity and offered to go before the grand jury and tell all she knows of the affair.

The grand jury began today its investigation of the shooting of Dr. Carman's patient. Mrs. Carman was arrested by the Coroner after the close of the inquest yesterday.

One of the first witnesses to appear before the grand jury today, it was announced, would be Elwood T. Bardes, the insurance agent whose testimony yesterday before Coroner Norton caused that official to issue the warrant for Mrs. Carman's arrest. Bardes is also held at the jail in Mineola as material witness, the prosecutor having ordered his detention so that he would be at hand when wanted to repeat his story that he saw a woman near the entrance to Dr. Carman's office an instant after the shot was fired that killed Mrs. Bailey. His description of the woman corresponded with that of Mrs. Carman. Another witness before the grand jury will be the Carman maid, Celia Coleman, a negro girl.

Ready to Waive Immunity.

Counsel for Mrs. Carman today said she was prepared to go before the grand jury and waive immunity, a thing unusual in the case of a person charged with murder. She was ready, the attorney said, to tell everything she knows of the incident before and following the murder.

Mrs. Carman will be brought back to Freeport Monday for arraignment, when she is expected to repeat her plea of not guilty.

Dr. Carman, who accompanied Mrs Carman to the jail at Mineola, declared on his return here last night that nothing would be left undone to prove the innocence of his wife. While he admitted that he realized the seriousness of Bardes' testimony, he was positive that Mrs. Carman did not fire the shot that killed Mrs. Bailey.

He had known for several days, he said, that Mrs. Carman was suspected, and added that if it had not been for the unfortunate dictograph incident her name never would have come into the case as a suspect.

"She is innocent, as I know well, and I am sure that in the end this will be established without a doubt," he declared.

Bardes testified yesterday after Mrs. Carman's 12-year-old daughter, Elizabeth, had tried to strengthen her mother's alibi, and representatives of the manufacturers of the telephonic instrument had told of selling the device to the physician's wife and installing it in her home.

Coroner Norton, after spending an hour studying the testimony of Bardes and other witnesses, wrote out his charge and then ordered Mrs. Carman's arrest.

Story of the Eye Witness.

Bardes' story, briefly told, is this:

At 7:30 o'clock on the night of the murder Bardes decided to go to Dr. Carman and allow him to dress a minor injury to one of his heels. He walked to the physician's house, then decided he could dress the injury himself and save a doctor's fee. So he passed the house and turned around to go back home.

At that instant he heard an explosion. He thought it was caused by an automobile tire, but when he looked for the machine he could not find it. He looked toward the lawn at the side of Dr. Carman's home. A woman, tall, well built, hatless, wearing a light shirt waist and a dark skirt, was moving away from one of the windows at the side of the physician's office toward the rear of the house. She was not running, not casually strolling around the lawn; she was walking "in a hurry," the witness swore.

Bardes' story might have remained untold had he not mentioned it, first to a woman, who promptly telephoned to the District Attorney, and then to a priest he visited for advice. The priest urged Bardes to make his story known. But before an opportunity presented itself he was taken in custody by order of the District Attorney.

Mrs. Carman Pale at Arrest.

When word was sent to Mrs. Carman yesterday that she was about to be arrested it was but a few minutes before county officials entered the physician's office. Mrs. Carman, pale, but retaining her self-control, accompanied by her husband, her attorney and others, came in a minute later. Coroner Norton, for years an intimate friend of the family, with tears in his eyes, read his charge and the warrant of arrest he had signed. Mrs. Carman stood erect, facing him. Between them, on the floor, was a dark stain marking the spot where Mrs. Bailey died.

"Are you guilty of this charge or not guilty?" asked an Assistant District Attorney.

"Not guilty," answered Mrs. Carman.

"I'm sorry I had to"— began the Coroner. As he said "to" the door leading from the office to the waiting room opened and Elizabeth Carman entered.

"Mr. Pettit," she said to the Sheriff, "when is my mamma coming home?"

The Sheriff placed his hand on the child's head and answered, "Tomorrow."

"Come over here and sit on my knee," said Mrs. Carman's attorney. "We'll take care of your mother, all right."

Mrs. Carman then was allowed to go to the second floor of her home to say good-by to her mother, Mrs. Platt Conklin, who has been ill in bed.

Driven to Jail in Auto.

With her husband and the Sheriff Mrs. Carman was driven to the jail in an automobile.

Although a cell had been prepared for her, she was taked to the Warden's quarters, on the top floor, where she was placed in the care of the matron, who gave up her own room to the prisoner. Dr. Carman and his wife's attorney remained with her until late at night.

While the automobile carrying Mrs. Carman was running through Hempstead it passed a frail girl in black. She was Madeline Bailey, 17 years old, daughter of the murdered woman. She was not aware that a woman held as her mother's slayer was passing and other members of the Bailey family did not know that Mrs. Carman, on her way to jail, passed within a few blocks of their home.

When Mrs. Duryea, the dead woman's mother, was told of the arrest, she said: "If Mrs. Carman is guilty, God help her. If she is innocent, may God help her. This murder has broken up a very happy home."

The car stopped at Locust, the conductor said, and the man boarded it, handing him a card bearing the name, "David R. Francis." "I am the man who broke the glass in your door," was what the conductor said Francis told him. Whereupon the conductor told Francis that his strict orders were not to open the door for anyone after the car had started. Francis sat down.

The conductor took the name of Charles R. Skinker, an attorney, as a witness. Then the conductor reported the incident to his superiors. Francis is a United Railways stockholder. His son, David R. Francis Jr., is a director of the company.

GOULD ISSUES DROP, DEPRESS STOCK MARKET

Mo. Pac. Breaks to 12⅝, Lowest Price Ever Touched With One Exception.

NEW YORK, July 9.—Sensational declines in all the Gould issues yesterday, accompanied by sinister rumors as to the future of these properties, caused serious apprehension in Wall Street and were largely responsible for the failure of the stock market to respond to many evidences of an approaching recovery in general business.

Missouri Pacific, on transactions of about 35,000 shares, the heaviest since the decline at the time of the uncertainty over the provisions for meeting $25,000,000 of notes maturing on June 1, broke to 12⅝, the lowest price ever touched by the stock with the exception of May 6, 1897, when it broke to 10. At that time it was popularly supposed John D. Rockefeller rescued the road from receivership.

Missouri Pacific convertible 5 per cent yesterday sold at 46½, as compared with 57 on the day preceding. The 4 per cent refunding bonds which sold at 50 on Tuesday, broke to 42½, but rallied feebly at the close. Denver & Rio Grande common sold at 9 and preferred at 14¾. At one time International Great Northern 5 per cent notes, due Aug. 1 next, were quoted on the curb at 91 asked, no bid.

Weakness of Western Pacific bonds was due to the fact that it has $1,250,000 interest due on Sept. 1, whereas its net earnings during the last year have been only a little over $800,000. This interest is guaranteed by the Denver & Rio Grande, whose surplus earnings for the last year have been only $700,000.

LAWYER SAYS SALOON KEEPER DREW REVOLVER

Causes Arrest of Man Objecting to Effort to Collect a Whisky Bill.

An information was issued Thursday against Vincent Mrocvkowski, a saloon keeper at 1119 O'Fallon street, on a charge of threatening with a revolver Jesse Silverman, a New York attorney, who had gone to the saloon to collect money.

Silverman told Assistant Circuit Attorney Baer he represented the Note Bond & Mortgage Co. of New York which held notes for $850 given by Mrocvkowski to the Empire Distilling Co. for whisky. When he visited Mrocvkowski's saloon and exhibited the notes, he said, Mrocvkowski grabbed them and handed them to his wife, telling her to conceal them in her clothing.

Silverman said as he started around the bar to get the notes from the woman Mrocvkowski drew a revolver and ordered him out of the saloon. He went to a police station, and policemen were sent to arrest Mrocvkowski. Mrocvkowski said the whisky was misreperesented and he would not offer it for sale because of its poor quality.

BOARD WALK ON FAMOUS QUEBEC TERRACE BURNS

Part of Terrace Collapses and Falling of Wall Overlooking Tenements Threatened.

QUEBEC, July 9.—The board walk on Dufferin Terrace, Quebec's famous thouroughfare overlooking the St. Lawrence River, caught fire today and for a time threatened the Chateau Frontenac Hotel.

A high wind was blowing when the fire started and when the firemen reached the scene the flames had gained such headway that they were unable to reach the farther end of the promenade. The entire staff of employes of the Chateau aided the brigade and saved the hotel proper.

More than 500 feet of the terrace collapsed shortly before 2 o'clock and it was feared that the stone walls overlooking Champlain Ward, a tenement district, would soon fall.

The fire was getting beyond control of the firemen. At 2 o'clock two houses were on fire and the flames were again eating their way toward the Chateau Frontenac.

ROOSEVELT VIOLATED TREATY RIGHTS OF COLOMBIA IN CANAL

Number 5 of a Series

Agreement of 1846 Whereby United States Pledged to Maintain Sovereignty of Colombia on Isthmus Was Made for Valuable Concessions.

INDORSED BY SEWARD AND MANY PRESIDENTS

Actual Loss Which Colombia Might Claim Before Arbitration Board Is $49,946,000, Without Taking Into Consideration Her Loss in Territory.

The Post-Dispatch continues today its recital of the seizure of the Isthmus of Panama from Colombia. In previous articles it was shown and proved that Mr. Roosevelt and some members of his administration were cognizant of and gave their support to the preparations being made for the Panama revolution.

It is a matter of record, nowhere denied, that Mr. Roosevelt prevented Colombia from maintaining her sovereign over the Isthmus of Panama, and preventing the landing of Colombian troops within the department of Panama and the suppression of the fake rebellion.

The Post-Dispatch today shows that Mr. Roosevelt's actions were in violation of the treaty of 1846-48.

The Post-Dispatch also shows that the acts of Mr. Roosevelt in respect to the creation and recognition of the republic of Panama were in violation, not only of the treaty obligations of the United States, but of fundamental principles of international law which have been and are recognized by the United States as binding upon nations in dealings with one another.

To this end the Post-Dispatch gives herewith the diplomatic negotiations between the two Governments out of which grew the Panama Railway, the refusal or failure of the United States to build the canal when twice urged by Colombia, the De Lesseps concession and its collapse.

In this connection the Post-Dispatch boldly asserts that Mr. Roosevelt again was mistaken when he recently asserted that the French Government received the money paid by the United States for the canal properties, and likewise he did err when he made claim that Colombia sought to confiscate property of the French Government.

The Post-Dispatch sets for the money damages Colombia asserts it has suffered and shows that they exceed the $25,000,000 proposed to be paid under the treaty now before the United States Senate.

The obligations of the United States Government with respect to Colombia's independence and protection go back to 1846 when in consideration of the abolition of dues for transit across the isthmus—that was then the mule highway to California—the United States agreed by treaty which in terms specified that the advantages conferred upon the United States were "in compensation for an obligation," it assumed to guarantee the freedom of transit, the neutrality of the isthmus and the sovereignty of New Granada (now Colombia).

This treaty was ratified on June 10, 1848, and proclaimed 10 days later. Less than six months after the ratification of this treaty a preliminary contract was entered into in Washington for the construction of the Panama Railroad, and in April, 1849, the Panama Railroad Co. was chartered in New York. It is to be noted that all of the stock of the Panama Railroad Co. is now owned by the Government of the United States.

The Panama Railroad in the contract conferred upon the road a monopoly of transportation across the Isthmus. The railroad was opened to traffic in 1855. In 1865 a question arose as to whether the treaty of 1846 only obliged the United States to defend the line of traffic on the railroad or whether the United States had to protect the entire isthmus.

Mr. Allen A. Burton, then United States Minister to Colombia, in a note to Secretary of State Seward wrote that the treaty expressed precisely what is to be done in order to fulfill that obligation and to effect the object in view—the securing by the United States to Colombia the perfect neutrality of the isthmus and in like manner, her sovereignty and property in that territory, not partially or of the transit alone, but of the whole isthmus, and that perfectly."

Replying to this communication, Secretary of State Seward on April 30, 1866, in a dispatch to the United States Minister at Bogota, wrote:

"The United States desires nothing else, nothing better and nothing more in regard to the State of Colombia than the enjoyment on their part of complete and absolute sovereignty and independence. If these great interests shall ever be assailed by any power at home or abroad, the United States will be ready, co-operating with the Government and their ally, to maintain and defend them."

Extracts from State papers of President Hayes, (Dec. 6, 1880) and President Arthur (Dec. 1881) show the continuation of like views as does the sending of marines by President Cleveland to quell a rebellion on the Isthmus and Mr. Cleveland's message to Congress on the subject.

Colombia and Panama Railroad Company Arrange a New Contract

Two years later the original Panama Railroad contract was amended by the Government of Colombia and the Panama Railroad Co. This new contract, upon which Colombia bases part of her claims against the United States, was executed by the officers of the railroad company and approved by the Colombia Congress.

It is a binding civil contract under the terms of which the United States of Colombia, while retaining its reversionary right, ceded the railroad to the company for a period of 99 years in exchange for $1,000,000 in cash and $250,000 a year payable every year for 99 years.

But the necessity of a canal across the isthmus was making itself more and more felt, and in 1868 Secretary of State Seward entered into diplomatic negotiations with the Republic of Colombia for the construction by the United States of an interoceanic canal across the Isthmus of Panama. A treaty to that effect was signed Jan. 14, 1869.

The terms of this treaty were fully as advantageous and even more liberal than those of the Hay-Herran and Hay-Bunau-Varilla treaties and it was sent by President Andrew Johnson to the Senate of the United States for ratification on Feb. 15, 1869, many years before either of the aforementioned.

In it, Colombia gave to the United States full authority to construct the canal itself or confide the building of it by law to the citizens of the United States. She asked for no money, merely 10 per cent of the future annual profits beginning 12 years after the opening of the canal, or 25 per cent when the United States should have recouped the entire cost of the construction of the canal.

The Senate of the United States refused to agree to this treaty.

Second Canal Treaty Died.

On Jan. 26, 1870, another treaty for the construction of the Panama Canal was signed by Mr. Hulbert, then American Minister in Bogota, containing substantially the same provisions as the treaty of the year before.

This treaty was submitted to the Senate of the United States for ratification by President Grant on March 31, 1870. There is nothing to show that it was ever acted upon by the Senate, although it was approved with certain amendments by the Congress of the United States of Colombia on July 18, 1870.

Having failed to induce the United States to build the canal, Colombia, on March 20, 1878, granted a concession to Lucien N. B. Wise, an officer of the French Army. It permitted his company to transfer the contracts, "but it absolutely prohibited to cede or mortgage them under any consideration whatever to any nation or foreign Government."

Ferdinand de Lesseps, the famous French engineer who had built the Suez Canal, acquired the concession in 1879 and organized the company known as the old French Panama Canal Co. The price paid for the canal concession was 10,000,000 francs.

French Government Not Involved.

As soon as the French Panama Canal project took shape the French Government disclaimed any responsibility for it, and on March 22, 1880, the French Ambassador in Washington presented a memorandum to the State Department officially to that effect.

This attitude of the French Government never varied and there is not the slightest foundation for the extraordinary statements Mr. Roosevelt has continually made about the French Government.

In his letter to William Dudley Foulke Col. Roosevelt said that the United States had paid the $40,000,000 direct to the French Government. This was false, the Post-Dispatch asserts.

In his recent statement of June 24 Mr. Roosevelt again reverts to the "French Government" and says that Colombia proposed to confiscate the "property of the French Government" and says that "France would not have submitted to the robbery."

Neither France nor the French Government was interested in what took place in 1903. It even refused to permit inspection by a government commission "because the French should remain a total stranger to the Panama matter."

The first French company went bankrupt and having failed to complete its contract, an extension of time was granted. The affairs of the company were merged into a second French company and a second extension of time obtained from Colombia, bringing the time up to October 31, 1904. If the canal was not completed by that date all the canal company's concession and properties would be forfeited to Colombia.

It was following this reorganization that William Nelson Cromwell became the general counsel of the New Panama Canal Co. in the United States and after gross and shocking lobbying by Mr. Cromwell, Congress finally consented to pay $40,000,000 for the property of Mr. Cromwell's client, and $10,000,000 more to the fake Republic of Panama, which owed its existence to the New Panama Canal Co. and to Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States.

The territory taken from Colombia comprises the whole Isthmus of Panama. It is geographically the most valuable spot on earth. The hardwood forests of the Atlantic Coast contain hundreds of millions of dollars worth of timber and the country possesses great mineral wealth. Its value is incalculable but a comparison goes back to 1856 when the diplomatic representatives of the United States in Europe urged that this country purchase the Island of Cuba from Spain for $120,000,000. The Isthmus is infinitely more valuable.

The Panama railroad rights to Colombia were alone worth more than $30,000,000.

What Colombia Lost.

In 1903, when the payments to Colombia ceased, this contract still had 64 years to run and Colombia is entitled to claim 64 payments of $250,000, amounting in all to $16,000,000.

The actual value of the Panama Railroad, which was to revert to Colombia in 1966, appears from the report on the Panama Railroad, made in 1906 by the Hon. Joseph Bristow to Mr. Taft, then Secretary of War. The assets of date Dec. 3, 1905, were given as $16,446,942.75.

Colombia's Panama Canal rights of which she was deprived by the efforts of the fake revolution, in addition to her 5,000,000 francs worth of shares in the canal company, grew out of the Salgar-Wise concession of March 26, 1878, by which Colombia granted the French company the right to build the canal. Provision was made for annual payments to Colombia from the date of the opening of the canal with the proviso that in no year was the payment to be less than $250,000.

The canal concessions will have expired in 1984, and, admitting that the canal will be opened in 1914, Colombia is entitled to claim 70 annuities of $250,000 each, or a total of $17,000,000.

As Senator Bristow reported officially in 1906 that the Panama Railroad was worth $16,446,000, the total amount of the claim which might be submitted to arbitration would rise to $32,446,000.

In addition to this sum there is the amount entailed by the Salgar-Wise concession which expired in 1884, and under it Colombia was to receive $250,000 a year counting from the date of the opening of the canal. If the canal be opened to service in the coming year we have owing to Colombia 70 annuities—that is to say, $17,500,000. If the tribunal or arbitration considers this further claim the total would amount to $49,946,000.

The $25,000,000 which it is now proposed to pay to Colombia therefore only amounts to half of what she would have a claim for in a court of arbitration, without giving her a single cent for the loss of the territory and other damages she sustained through Mr. Roosevelt's lawless actions.

NEW YORK, July 9.—Miss Nora Leahy, aged 19, who swam eight miles through the swirling Hell Gate in two hours, accomplishing what has hitherto been considered an impossible feat, will enter many long-distance swimming contests this month.

The most important of these contests will be the swim from the Battery to Coney Island, which was first accomplished by the world's champion long-distance swimmer, Alfred Brown. The distance is about 15 miles.

Miss Leahy is a skillful high diver, and plans to enter many diving contests this season.

REGRETS FRENCH CANAL FAILURE

De Lesseps, Son of First Panama Engineer, Views Opening With Sorrow.

PARIS, July 9.—Count Charles de Lesseps, the son of Ferdinand de Lesseps, who began the work of building the Panama Canal in 1881, issued the following statement in a Paris morning paper:

"I view the approaching inauguration of the Panama Canal with a feeling of genuine sorrow, and what I say ought not to wound the Americans, who have worked wonders. The French could have finished the work; there were no obstacles which they could not have overcome and nothing to justify the catastrophe which overwhelmed us.

"Three men made the canal and merit universal gratitude—my father, Engineer Philippe Bunau-Varilla and Col. Goethals."

Count de Lesseps told of the ordeal through which he passed when he went to the prison and found his father dying, broken and distressed by the thought that the family honor had been tarnished. He was able then to tell him that in spite of appearances, his honor was saved, though all was lost but that.

MRS. ANGLE BEGS VISITORS TO CALL HER INNOCENT

Woman Suspect in Ballou Murder Case Is Unnerved by Her Imprisonment.

SHE HUGS A REPORTER

"Don't Paint Me Black," She Cries, When Asked for an Interview—Fears She'll Die.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

STAMFORD, Conn., July 9.—Since Mrs. Helen M. Angle's $5000 bail was recalled by Coroner Phelan at Friday's request into the mysterious death of Waldo R. Ballou, her wakeful hours in the airy dormitory of the local Police Headquarters, where she is awaiting the resumption of the inquest, have been spent chatting with her father and her friends, among them Mrs. George Eagle, at whose home, 427 Main street, Mrs. Angle spent the eight days of her bonded freedom.

Residents here have said that Mrs. Angle has been treated more like a guest than a prisoner. Persons who had thought that the police would leave her in solitude to think over the events of the night of Tuesday, June 23, when Ballou was picked up dying in front of the Rippowan Building, in which she had studio apartments, have been disappointed. Either her father, Leonard Blondel, or Mrs. Eagle has been with her, except when she was locked in a cell for the night.

"Don't Paint Me Black."

The Post-Dispatch correspondent visited Mrs. Angle in the dormitory. It was the first time that Mrs. Angle has talked to a newspaper correspondent since the first inquest, on June 26. She was lying on a cot. Mrs. Eagle was sitting by her side. Chief Brennan, who opened the door, said:

"Nellie, here is a man who wishes to have a talk with you. Whether you talk with him or not is entirely up to you. If you don't care to say anything you don't be disturbed."

With a cry, Mrs. Angle started up. Her eyeglasses slipped forward on her nose. She is a tall woman—very close to six feet—and with three long strides she crossed the room and threw her arms around the correspondent's neck. Then bursting into tears, she wailed:

"Oh, don't paint me black in the newspapers. Don't paint me black! I am innocent!"

"Now, Nellie," the big Police Chief exclaimed, "you don't have to say anything. If you don't want to talk, say so, and I will see that your wishes are met."

"I can't," Mrs. Angle moaned and wrung her hands together. "Oh, I am innocent!"

"I Am Innocent!" She Cries.

Suddenly she turned, ran across the room and threw herself on her knees beside her cot. So violent was the movement that her head bumped hard on the iron rail of the cot. Then she began to shriek over and over again:

"Before God, I am innocent! I swear it!"

"Well," it was suggested, "if you are innocent you will come out all right."

"I know, I know," Mrs. Angle interrupted. "That is all that is helping me bear it. I have fixed it firmly in my mind that I am innocent and that everything will come out all right."?

Here Chief Brennan insisted that Mrs. Angle tell him definitely whether or not she wished to be interviewed. She shook her head. Then the Chief asked her if she desired him to understand that she does not wish to see any newspaper men from now on. She shook her head again. So the Chief closed the door and left her.

Mrs. Angle's eagerness to have everybody with whom she comes in contact assure her that they believe in her innocence of any connection with Ballou's death, caused the enactment of a dramatic scene after she had gone to her cell and prepared to go to bed Saturday night.

Believes Death Is Near.

Mrs. Seraphina Klahre, the matron, referred to by Chief Brennan as "the kindest hearted woman in the world," had canceled an engagement to go for an automobile ride when she learned that Mrs. Angle was suffering a severe attack of the nervous disorder which her lawyer has advanced as one reason why she should not testify before the Coroner and why she should have her liberty under bail.

After Mrs. Klahre had given Mrs. Angle her medicine and while she was massaging her, Mrs. Angle said:

"I am innocent. You believe I am innocent, don't you, Mrs. Klahre?"

"When I am with you I do," said Mrs. Klahre. "But when I am away from you the circumstantial evidence stares me in the face, and you know you have refused to tell your story to the Coroner."

"I believe I am to die soon. I feel it. I swear to you before God that I am innocent. I would not go before my maker with lips stained by a lie. Kiss me good night now, Mrs. Klahre, to show that you believe I am innocent."

Mrs. Klahre bent to brush Mrs. Angle's forehead with her lips. Mrs. Angle threw away and wrung her hands.

"Not there," she said. "That doesn't mean anything. Kiss me on the lips."

Her Nerves Giving Way.

Mrs. Klahre refused, and after a while stopped her massaging. Mrs. Angle, sobbing, thanked her for her kindness, while the matron tried to close the heavy, barred door that guards the fifty tier of cells there.

Because she did not wish the harsh grind of steel on steel to disturb Mrs. Angle the matron fussed gently and finally with the massive lock. Chief Brennan finally slammed the door shut, and the warders clicked into place. The door is not built on noiseless principles. Since Sunday night Mrs. Angle has appeared more unnerved than ever. Four times Sunday prescriptions from a nearby apothecary's were carried in. Early in the afternoon Chief Brennan issued orders for Dr. J. A. Staub, her physician, to be allowed to visit her. Mrs. Angle has been drinking from four to six egg phosphates daily. Her meals—usually poached eggs on toast and tea—are sent in from a restaurant.

Coroner Phelan has not yet announced the exact date on which he will resume the inquest, but it is believed that it will be Friday afternoon.

Friday, in This Clearing Sale of Drastic Reductions

The vast saving possibilities of this clearing event are daily becoming more evident. This Clearing Sale is a very remarkable occasion, because a great many of the reductions have been taken on staple lines, which only our merchandising policy prompts us to part with at reduced prices. The lines not quite so staple, are reduced much more greatly, and all in all, this is a most profitable Clearing event, and we urgently advise your early attendance.

With more than 40 South Side children in its cast, "The Piper of Hamelin," the beautiful play in which Mrs. Rosa Kantorwitz, of 3955 Hartford street, tells anew the ancient German legend enshrined in Robert Browning's poem, "The Pied Piper of Hamelin," will receive a very picturesque presentation at the Shenandoah Theater, 2318 South Grand avenue, Saturday afternoon for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund to save the tenement babies.

The play lends itself admirably to a performance by children and its world-famous story appeals alike to young folks and old. It is one of the folk-tales that will never die, so greatly human and so greatly simple is it, so rich in poetic fancy and so full of vivid imaginative color. Its quaint central figure, the mysterious Hunold, the Piper, is one of the most vitally fantastic characters in all the lore of childhood, peopled though this be with the fairy folk of every race on the habitable globe.

There is, perhaps, no more touching scene on any page of the literature of youth than that created when the gnome-spiteful Hunold, aroused to deadly venom by the refusal of Hamelin's burghers to pay him the agreed price when he had rid the town of its plague of rats, then pipes his sweetest and brings every little child in Hamelin under the spell of his magic, leading them away from their homes and disappearing with them in the dark depths of the gloomy mountain that seems certain thereafter to hold them captive till only their piteous bones remain to tell their fate to future generations.

Sudden heartbreak of a thousand mothers is the scene. Its essential drama is beside her in appeal. Its note of tragedy is the movement that. The joyous singing and the iron rat the bewitched children as they began to shriek the Piper to their doom is before their parents. It is thrilled through and through with the undertone of the warnings of a sinister Fate in soul-shaking contrast to the glad voices of the children themselves. It is this greatly moving scene that has given to "The Piper of Hamelin" its certain assurance of immortality among the world's best-loved folk-tales.

The big company of South Side children has been skilfully rehearsed for the play's performance by Miss Olive O'Neal, of 3822A Juniata street, and all indications are that an admirable presentation will be made. The play's cast, and the bright vaudeville program which also will be offered Saturday, are:

An entertainment given by a company of youthful girls of Flad avenue, Flora boulevard, Cleveland and Castleman avenues at St. Margaret's Hall, Thirty-fifth street and Flad avenue, last Thursday evening, realized $49.25 for the Pure Milk Fund to save the babies.

This was one-half the net proceeds, which were divided equally between Father Dempsey's Day Nursery and the Pure Milk Fund.

This successful performance, the seventh annual benefit for the Pure Milk Fund given by these young folks, was under the management of Mrs. John Ring Jr. and Miss May Templeman.

A carnival and show was given on the lawn of the Crosson residence, 1351B Bayard avenue, last Thursday evening, earning $6 with which to help the Pure Milk Fund save the babies. Those taking part in the entertainment were Estelle Crosson, 1351B Bayard; Harry Tietens, 1354A Bayard; John Smith, 4530A McMillan; Geraldine Powers, 1362A Bayard, and George Fitzwilliams, 1365 Bayard.

A show was given at 3301 Kimberly avenue for the benefit of the Pure Milk Fund and $1.03 was earned to help save the tenement tots. Those taking part were Alice Malone, 3302 Kimberly; Margaret Heltzer, 5324 Greer; Clara Levi, 4817 Cottage, and Nellie Crinnion, 3301A Kimberly avenue.

Five pupils of the Garfield school, Pine Lawn, St. Louis County, gave an entertainment in the school and auditorium and earned $7.05 for the Pure Milk Fund to save the little ones of the poor. Their performance was so greatly enjoyed that the people of the neighborhood are asking that they give another entertainment. Those taking part were Alice Biedermann, Audrey Ryan, Margaret Thomas, Rose Schoen and Hope Stanton.

Three little girls conducted a lemonade stand at Page and Pendleton avenues and earned $1.01 with which to help the Pure Milk Fund save the babies. The names of the three little girls are Mary Lucille O'Brien and Mary Esther O'Brien of 4352 Evans avenue, and Grace Sawyer of 4292A Page boulevard.

A splendidly conducted lawn festival was given for the benefit of the Pure Milk Fund by Helen Catherine Conklin and Marie Weissenborn, both aged 11, assisted by Mercedes Weissenborn, on the lawn of the Conklin residence, 2614 Arkansas avenue, Monday evening, June 29, and the handsome amount of $34.75 was earned to help save the tenement tots.

The affair was socially and financially a grand success, owing entirely to the untiring efforts of the two little maids who managed it. The lawn was beautifully decorated with Japanese lanterns, vocal and instrumental music was furnished for the entertainment of all present, and ice cream and lemonade was served at the small cost of 5 cents each. The two little girls wish to return thanks to all who attended.

Leona Clark and Leona Kobinsky, of 1607 Carr street, conducted a lemonade stand and earned $3.26 for the Pure Milk Fund to save the babies.

Sara Engel, of Leavenworth, Kan., and Dorothy Murdock, of 6028 Washington avenue, assisted by the little boys on that block, conducted a lemonade stand at Rosedale and Delmar avenues and earned $2 to help save the little ones of the poor.

A bazar for the benefit of the Pure Milk Fund was given Tuesday night by Misses Nina and Miriam Lewis, of 1335 Arlington avenue, assisted by Bert Lewis, Agnes and Julia Brennan, Marion Eberle, Russell Johnson, Lena Martin, Thelma Pearlstone, Ruth Houseman and Richard Knight, and $6.15 was earned to help save the babies. Popcorn, ice cream and cake were sold and a fish-pond was conducted. These young people agree to double this amount for the Pure Milk Fund next summer. They wish to return thanks for donations to the Larimore-Bowman-Carpenter Ice Cream Co. and to Zeller Bros Catering Co.

"Little Girl" sends $1 to the Pure Milk Fund to help save the babies. If now she also will send her name and residence address, the Post-Dispatch will send her a league button and membership card.

Two sweet little girls, Florence Vickars of 3804 West Pine and Eulalie Morrey of 3808 West Pine, busied themselves for two days selling fancy articles and household needs, their own handiwork, for the benefit of the Pure Milk Fund and earned $4.61 to help save the tenement tots.

Anna Lothman of 4434 Blair avenue and Ruth Ferguson of 4423 North Fourteenth street conducted a lemonade stand and earned $1.25 to help the Pure Milk Fund save the babies.

Four kindly girls employed at the La Salle Candy Shop will sell chewing gum at King's highway and Delmar boulevard next Wednesday for the benefit of the Pure Milk Fund. Their names are Amy Meyers of 6128 Plymouth avenue, Lillian Zimmerman, 1213 Lami street; Della Hall, 4551 Page boulevard, and Marie Gleason, 3113 South Water street.

VOTE TRADING FOR PRIMARIES IN FULL SWING

Republican City Committeemen Hard at Work for Favorite Candidates.

MAKES RESULT DOUBTFUL

One of Bitterest Fights Is Between Thomas and Graves for Circuit Clerk.

Much trading is being done by Republican city committeemen in their efforts to aid their favorite candidates to win nominations in the primary election Aug. 4. No general slate has been fixed but nearly every committeeman is interested in some particular candidate and is eager to trade his support of other candidates for support for his own man.

The trading is so frequent as to cast much doubt on the final outcome of the election. In other elections, when the committee was able to agree upon a slate of candidates for all offices, it was generally regarded as a certainly that the slate candidate would win.

One of the bitterest fights is between Supply Commissioner Joseph B. Thomas and Charles R. Graves for Circuit Clerk. Graves is seeking re-election. Thomas is a committeeman from the Twenty-eighth Ward. Mayor Kiel is understood to be friendly to Thomas, but several committeemen holding clerkships under Graves have been very active in his support.

Thomas Has Advantage.

They are asserting that a majority of the committeemen have been committed to Graves, but whether they will be able to overcome the advantage that Thomas will have with the administration forces behind him is one of the problems that is worrying the committeemen.

A majority of the committeemen seem to have agreed upon Judges Hitchcock and Grimm for renomination, and former Judge George H. Shields for the third nomination for Circuit Judge. There are 10 candidates for the Republican nomination, among them Judge McQuillin, who is seeking renomination.

There is also a bitter fight between Howard Sidener and Arthur Bader for the nomination for Prosecuting Attorney. Sidener is seeking re-election. Bader is a son of Herman Bader, a former professional baseball player and Republican City Committeeman for the Eighteenth Ward. Nearly all of the North Side committeemen have lined up for Bader, but Sidener has nearly always been able to beat any combination that the committee has made against him.

Minister a Candidate.

In the Tenth Congressional District Jacob E. Meeker, a former Congregational preacher, and State Senator Charles O. A. Brunk, are engaged in a hard struggle for the nomination. Congressman Bartholdt did not seek renomination. Brunk has the support of Mayor Kiel and Republican City Chairman John Schmoll, and most of the Republican City Committeemen in the district. Collector Edmund Koeln and Otto Stifel, brewer, are supporting Meeker.

St. Louis County is included in the Tenth District and Meeker has been making a thorough campaign in the rural districts, in the hope of getting a large county vote.

There is no contest in the Eleventh District, where Harry Hamilton, former member of the House of Delegates, has no opposition for the nomination, and virtually none in the Twelfth District, where L. C. Dyer is running for renomination.

He Fought With Custer.

PITTSBURG, Kan., July 9.—Charles H. Moore, 74, who fought with Gen. Custer in his Indian campaigns in the Northwest, died today at home here. He missed the battle of the Little Big Horn because of an injury. Moore for several years was a farmer in Barton County, Mo.

JOHN E. FRANKLIN TURNS HIS ASSETS OVER TO CREDITORS

Holdings of Former Head of Bankers' Trust Co. Mortgaged; Liabilities $675,000.

St. Louis creditors of John E. Franklin, until six weeks ago president of the Bankers' Trust Co., Thursday mailed to out-of-town creditors notice that Franklin had turned over to them all of his assets to be distributed among all creditors to save for them as much as possible in the collapse of the Franklin enterprises.

The notice states that the liabilities will amount to about $675,000. All creditors are requested to join in taking their pro rata share and are told in the notice that a failure on the part of any to do so may throw the matter into the courts and that much of the assets would be dissipated by the costs of litigation.

The notice is the first official statement of the bursting of the Franklin financial scheme which has been known to bankers for several weeks, and which resulted in a break in the price of Bankers' Trust Co. stock from $190 to $39 in less than two months. Franklin held about 5800 shares of Bankers' Trust stock, according to Eugene H. Angert, attorney for the creditors. The drop in the stock means a shrinkage of $875,800 in the market value of his holdings in the company of which he was president.

Small Bank Stock Valuable.

Franklin came to St. Louis after a phenomenal success as a country banker. The Bankers' Trust Co. was organized by him and it was announced to be principally a holding company to buy and hold shares of country banks.

The stocks of the smaller banks of Missouri are considered very valuable, many of them paying dividends of from 15 to 35 per cent.

The stock of the Banker's Trust was sold throughout the eastern half of Missouri, many of the bankers of smaller towns investing in the Banker's Trust stock.

Franklin was known as a heavy borrower of money, many of the country bankers being among his creditors. As security for loans his Banker's Trust stock was pledged. When this stock began to decline, dropping $105 a share in 10 days, these creditors demanded additional stock or other securities for the loans and Franklin was forced to pledge all of his holdings in the trust company to secure his debts.

Creditors Hold Meeting.

At that time Franklin issued a circular stating that all his collateral was pledged, and asking that his creditors give him time to negotiate for funds to help him out of his difficulties.

While bankers for several days have known of the negotiations between some of the creditors and Franklin, the first outside announcement was made following a meeting Thursday in the office of Jones, Hocker, Hawes & Angert, attorneys, in the Third National Bank Building. The creditors attending the meeting were R. S. Hawes, vice-president of the Third National Bank; L. S. Mitchell, National Bank of Commerce; August E. Broeker, Manchester Bank; August Schlafly, August Schlafly & Co., and Samuel McCluny of McCluny & Co.

Plans for handling the claims of all creditors and applying Franklin's assets were discussed at this meeting, and after its adjournment Angert made public a letter written to all creditors asking them to join in a settlement of the claims without litigation.

Railroad Investment.

Those who attended the meeting, the letter stated, had agreed to act as a committee to take over the Franklin assets and handle them to the best advantage of the creditors, the proceeds to be divided pro rata among the creditors. Each creditor is asked to signify his willingness to place his claim in the hands of the committee to get for it what the committee is able. No action will be taken by the committee until the creditors are heard from.

The assets of the Bankers Trust Co., the slump of whose stock caused the collapse of the Franklin interests, are invested largely in railroad, land and bank properties. The slump came soon after an examination of the trust company two months ago by the State Banking Department, which notified the company that too large a proportion of its assets were invested in the San Antonio Uvalde & Gulf Railroad, a new company of which Franklin was president.

The trust company has a capital and surplus of $5,000,000. The investment in the Texas railroad is $3,000,000.

Franklin's assets consist of 5800 shares of Bankers Trust stock, a 10,000-acre tract of land in Pemiscot County, Mo., and a tract of 6000 acres in Texas, all heavily mortgaged.

AIRSHIP CARRIES MESSAGE FROM SHIP 25 MILES OUT

Wireless Bad, Aviators From Battleship Mississippi, Deliver Message to Coast.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Dispatch carrying by aeroplane for the first time in the history of the navy aeronautics was reported today from the battleship Mississippi.

When the Mississippi was 25 miles off the Virginia Capes heading for Hampton Roads several days ago, Lieut. Bellinger and Ensign Stolz went into the air with their machine, rose to a height of 4000 feet and descended upon the telegraph office at Fortress Monroe with an important message for the Navy Department, which badly working wireless apparatus had failed to transmit.

NOTED ROME SCULPTOR'S WIFE BURNED TO DEATH

Filippo Cifariello Shot First Spouse in Jealous Fit and Was Acquitted.

ROME, July 9.—The second wife of the distinguished Italian sculptor, Filippo Cifariella, was burned to death today through the explosion of a lamp.

Cifariella, in August, 1905, shot and killed his first wife in a fit of jealousy. He was acquitted after a sensational trial.

MRS. GARDINER DIVORCED

Dentist's Wife Gets Decree in Clayton on Cross Bill.

Mrs. Alice C. Gardiner obtained a divorce in Judge Wurdeman's court in Clayton Thursday on her cross-bill from W. W. Gardiner, a dentist, who filed the suit Dec. 24, 1913. The Gardiners have been parties to much litigation since their separation, March 1, 1913.

Gardiner alleged in his petition that his wife did not take proper care of their home, and that she was frequently absent at meal times. In her cross-bill she charged desertion.

Girl Tossing Dog Is Bitten.

Miss Ivy Kunnemann, 18 years old, of Nameoki, was bitten on the hand by a small dog at the home of Miss Ethel Underwood, in Granite City, where she was visiting Thursday. She was flipping a handkerchief in the dog's face.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

300 ITALIANS, WHO LEFT CATHOLIC CHURCH, RETURN

Will Be Received in Church of Our Lady With Special Ceremonies Sunday.

Three hundred Italians, former parishioners of the Roman Catholic Church of Our Lady, at Tenth and Wash streets, who have for a year past been enrolled in the Rev. Father John Marchello's schismatic church at 920 North Seventh street, will return to the Catholic church Sunday.

Their return will be celebrated by a special high mass at the Church of Our Lady, Sunday morning, when the 300 will signify their repentance for their defection from Catholicism.

This ceremony will end a war which has been carried on vigorously by the Rev. Father Caesar Spigardi, pastor of the Church of Our Lady and of the Church of St. Charles Borromeo, Twenty-ninth and Locust streets, against Father Marchello.

Will Seek Reinstatement.

Father Marchello will depart Sunday for New York, to sail next week for Italy. He goes back to seek reinstatement in the Catholic Church, and he has been advised that the only place where he can obtain it is in the diocese where he last regularly worked as a priest, in Sicily.

His return passage to Italy will be paid by Father Spigardi, who has given $100 for the purpose. Father Spigardi says he made the gift as an act of charity. Father Marchello, in telling of it, seemed to have the impression that the payment was made in order to get him to close his church and leave St. Louis. He said he expected to receive $200, but finally was told he could have only $100.

Father Marchella came here five years ago from Sicily and clashed at that time with Father Spigardi, who, he says, prevented him from establishing a congregation here at that time. He went to Kansas City, and conducted a mission to Italians which, according to Father Spigardi, was under the direction of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Father Marchello denies that he ever became a Protestant.

When he returned to St. Louis he found a disaffected element in Father Spigardi's downtown church, and organized this into what he called "The Italian Catholic Congregation of St. Mary of Misericordia." As a church, he obtained a vacant storeroom at 929 North Seventh street. The only thing to designate the place as a church was a small cross, displayed outside.

A booklet entitled "The Life Benefacent of Father John Marchello," recently published and circulated among his countrymen, bore on its cover the Italian national arms instead of the Papal keys.

It recited his career as a priest in Italy, and stated that he was of a noble and wealthy family, and gave all his property to church institutions and to charity. It also declared that he saved the lives of three drowning persons.

BRYAN PACT WITH NICARAGUA TO BE WITHDRAWN

Alterations Certain to Be Made as Senators Are Stirred by the Revelations Made in New York World of Workings of "Dollar Diplomacy" in This Case.

Latest Facts Set Forth Show the Present Central American Republic Would Not Last Ten Days if American Marines Were Withdrawn.

Frequent Changes in Presidency Made to Back Wall Street Effort to Saddle Heavy Loan on the Country.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The Nicaragua treaty, as now drawn, will not be recommended for ratification by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. It will either be withdrawn or materially changed. The World's story of today, giving the history of the treaty, opened the eyes of the Senators who read it.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 9.—The World today presents the second chapter in the story of Secretary Knox's attempt to compel Nicaragua to accept "dollar diplomacy," and how Secretary Bryan has been hoodwinked into an attempt to perpetuate the system by negotiating the Nicaraguan treaty which is now pending in the Senate.

In the first chapter, printed yesterday, a flood of light was thrown upon the covert means employed by Secretary Knox in driving President Zelaya from the country because he refused to allow Wall street to exploit the little republic.

The chapter terminated with the method used by Knox in his attempts to compel President Madriz, Zelaya's successor, to meet Wall street terms or follow the despot into exile. The details, showing how Knox was gradually undermining Madriz by use of the American fleet in the American-made revolution, were presented. The final chapter showed how Madriz was offered an ultimatum—take an American loan or get out of Nicaragua.

At this period President Madriz had virtually extinguished the revolution. He had cleared the country of the forces of the revolution, headed by Juan Estrada and Adolfo Diaz, and had the little remnant of rebels bottled up at Bluefields for many months, where it was impossible for him to attack them because they were protected by the guns of the American fleet. It was impossible for Madriz to kill the revolution as long as the American fleet nurses the forces at Bluefields.

Realizing the uselessness of attempting longer to continue in his peculiar predicament and unable to believe the reports sent him from his Washington representative, Dr. Corea, that the price of American friendship was a Wall street loan, he sent two special commissioners to make a personal appeal to Knox.

Here is a copy of the instructions which President Madriz gave the commissioners when they started for Washington to ask Secretary Knox to change his attitude. It shows that Madriz was willing to concede everything:

Memorandum.

1. The Government of Nicaragua declares that neither on its part nor on that of the people of Nicaragua is there any ill feeling toward the Government of the United States, nor toward the people of the United States, but, on the contrary, they highly appreciate the lasting benefits to be enjoyed by them and by all of Latin-America in perpetuating the friendship of the United States and under the protecting influence of the Monroe Doctrine.

2. The Government of Nicaragua expresses its deep regret in respect to the circumstances which resulted in the severing of diplomatic relations with the Government of the United States, and it particularly deplores the excessive punishment imposed on Messrs. Groce and Cannon, as well as other official acts of President Zelaya which have not received the approval of the present administration nor of the people of Nicaragua.

3. The Government of Nicaragua will pay to the families of Messrs. Groce and Cannon such indemnity as may be agreed upon between it and the Government of the United States as being reasonable and just.

4. The Government of Nicaragua will indemnify all Americans residing in Nicaragua and suffering losses by reason of civil war presently existing in such amount as may be agreed upon between it and the Government of the United States as being reasonable and just.

5. The Government of Nicaragua respectfully requests the Government of the United States to use its powerful moral and benevolent influence to bring about a settlement of the present difficulties in that republic and to restore peace and quiet to its people.

6. President Madriz is ready and willing to act upon any suggestion which the Government of the United States may be pleased to offer that shall make for peace in Nicaragua and for a resumption of diplomatic relations between the two republics.

State Department's Attitude.

At this period the State Department, denying that it was assisting the revolutionists, issued regular statements insisting that the Madriz Government was unwilling to offer proper terms to the United States as the price of its recognition and friendship. Madriz's two commissioners made this report of their interview at the State Department which, with the instructions given the commissioners, appear to show that the statements emanating from Mr. Knox's office were not true, because Madriz was willing to surrender most anything to satisfy the apostle of "dollar diplomacy."

But all efforts to get Knox to rent failed. Madriz gave up hope and went into exile in Mexico late in August. He died of a broken heart.

The presidency was turned over to Jose Dolores Estrada, a brother of the rebel leader. He held the job for three days—until his brother Juan arrived from Bluefields, and Juan took the presidency without formalities. He was recognized by the United States immediately.

Thomas L. Dawson, an agent of the State Department, hurried to Managua and took charge of the situation.

After a series of conferences he vested in the five revolutionary leaders the entire machinery of Government. The opposition, composing about 75 per cent, was not considered.

Famous Dawson Pact.

The famous "Dawson pact" was the Magna Charta of the new Government. It has never been seen in the United States. There is no copy even in the State Department at Washington. It was never ratified by the United States Senate. It was the personal arrangement between Secretary Knox, through his agent, Dawson, and five revolutionists, whose revolt has been made to order in the United States.

When this pact was agreed upon the State Department announced that through its diplomacy the unhappy conditions in Nicaragua had been wiped out and a satisfactory arrangement had been reached whereby the conflicting parties promised to settle their difficulties at an honest election.

The Dawson pact shows that it was not a joint agreement between the Government and the revolutionists, but merely between the United States and a handful of revolutionists, who had been unable to continue their fight against the Government without the assistance of the American Government and Wall street.

In other words, Secretary Knox agreed to support with the armies of the United States the administration of Juan Estrada, who was to go through the formality of being put into office by an election which was faked according to the terms in the pact and the agreement, a clause of which said:

"It is also agreed that the Government to be established in Nicaragua shall, under no pretext, permit any part of the Zelaya party in its administration."

First Assembly Dissolved.

On Jan. 1, 1911, the constitutional Assembly was held under the Dawson pact, but its activities did not please the little group in charge of the machinery of Government and the Assembly was dissolved.

A second Assembly was called and it adopted an election law which resulted in denying the franchise to a great majority of the people and which would have kept the Diaz-Chammorro clique in power indefinitely.

The Liberals did not vote because they were prevented from doing so.

A sample of the manner in which the voting was done is shown in the district of Leon, where there are approximately 15,000 votes. The official count filed in the State Department shows that there were 17 votes polled and counted in this district.

As soon as the election was canvassed and Estrada was established as the "constitutional" President, American representatives took up the matter of the loan.

Gen. Mena showed that he was opposed to the loan and Estrada became alarmed and arrested him. Minister Northcote interfered and insisted that he be liberated. Estrada liberated him, but fearing Mena, he forsook the presidency and left the country.

This left Adolfo Diaz in the President's office, and he was satisfactory to the American Minister. The Congress elected Mena President because they desired the immediate removal of Diaz.

The American Minister made no objection to the election. Mena accepted the prospect of the presidency as a sop and withdrew his opposition to the loan which the Congress ratified.

In other words, just as soon as Diaz was boosted into the presidency he carried out Secretary Knox's dream of saddling dollar diplomacy upon the little republic for all time.

The loan provided that the entire financial machinery of the government and the customs house should be turned over to the Wall street group upon the nominal payment to Nicaragua of $15,000,000. Most of the money, however, was not expected to find its way into the Nicaraguan exchequer—only enough to fatten the purses of the little gang who had pushed the revolution in the interests of the Americans.

The money was to be apportioned in the payment of various foreign debts and in the payment of some of the trumped up American claims which had been urged against the little republic by the State Department.

If any was left after the general distribution it was expected to go to some of the revolutionary leaders and their friends. This was provided, in fact, in the manifesto issued by the revolutionists. These gentlemen were to be paid under the head of "revolutionary claims."

The loan appeared to be extremely attractive to the State Department, to the American-made Nicaraguan Congress, to the bankers and to the followers and friends of Diaz, but it met a stumbling block in the United States Senate, where it was beaten by one vote.

Borah Makes Fight on Loan.

All the Republicans except Senator Borah voted for the loan treaty and all the Democrats voted against it. Had Senator Borah voted with the Republicans the loan would have been ratified and Nicaragua would have been safely in the hands of the Wall Street syndicate.

President Taft was grievously offended because Senator Borah refused to go under the party lash and vote for the treaty. Senator Borah has begun a new fight on the Bryan treaty and he has announced that he will expose the underlying motives and rottenness, the secret rules of the Senate notwithstanding.

Secretary Knox's anxiety to give Nicaragua the benefits of dollar diplomacy induced him to have the customs house turned over to the Wall street group before the Senate had gone through the formality of ratifying the treaty.

Nicaragua received an installment of $2,500,000 on the loan. Most of this money drifted out of the Treasury with great rapidity and found its way into the pockets of some of those who had assisted in creating the new Government.

When the loan was ratified the American Minister discovered that Mena's election was in violation of the sacred Dawson pact. Therefore, Mena was informed that he could not serve. Besides Adolfo Diaz, Knox's trusted puppet, was handling things in an extremely satisfactory manner.

Got Help From Washington.

Mena rebelled. He went to Granada and started a revolution which appeared to appeal strongly to the rank and file of the Nicaraguans who had learned to hate the American aggressions and methods of financial colonization.

The Diaz Government was shaking on its props. Diaz asked for help from Washington. He got it. Three thousand marines were rushed from Atlantic coast points to protect "American lives and property."

At the same time Wall street bankers demanded that Mr. Knox protect the investment he had led them to make and Mr. Knox responded with ample protestation.

It is generally conceded in Washington that Diaz could not maintain himself in office for 10 days if the marines were not there.

They are garrisoned in Zelaya's old palace. The Stars and Stripes float above.

It is with this Government, created and maintained by the United States, that Mr. Bryan is seeking to make a treaty which purposes to turn over to this country its sovereignty, a canal route and a naval base against the will of the people.

Another installment of "Dollar Diplomacy" and the treaty with Nicaragua will be printed in the Post-Dispatch tomorrow.

Salvador Protests Against Bryan's Nicaragua Treaty.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—"Mr. Bryan's treaty with Nicaragua should not have been presented to the Senate Committee" said Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan. "The attitude of the State Department in this matter is absolutely wrong. We have made it possible for a party of New York bankers to exploit Nicaragua for selfish reasons and financial gain."

Senator Stone, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, contends that the Nicaraguan treaty as presented by Secretary Bryan is no more than a tentative proposition. He says Bryan seeks suggestions from the Senate Committee.

Senator Smith has received the following telegram from President Melendez of Salvador:

"We are informed that the energetical protest that my Government has set forth to the Department of State through its legation in Washington, maintaining that the proposed Nicaraguan treaty wrongs the rights and interests of Salvador in the Bay of Fonseca, has not been brought to the knowledge of the Senate. In that case we ask the committee on Foreign Affairs to require from the Department of State the diplomatic correspondence regarding said protest and to take it into consideration before deciding on the matter.

"Besides, we inform the honorable committee that our diplomatic agent has been instructed to extend our protest to the point that the impairment of the autonomy of Nicaragua equally effects that of Salvador and nullifies the Washington conventions."

The information referred to by the President of Salvador is with the Foreign Relations Committee. Salvador maintains that she and Nicaragua own jointly the rights that Nicaragua would sell to the United States and that they cannot be separated.

ALTON STEEL CO., $950,000 CONCERN, IN RECEIVERSHIP

President of Company Says Trouble Is Due to Failure to Get Good Prices.

A receiver was appointed Wednesday for the Alton Steel Co., a $950,000 concern which had been manufacturing steel products in Alton for about a year.

James Duncan, president of the Duncan Foundry and Machine Works and vice-president of the Alton Water Co., who was named as receiver by Circuit Judge Hadley, was authorized to operate the plant if he thought he could do so at a profit. For several months the plant has been shut down, with the exception of a few departments which were operated now and then.

T. S. Clark, president and organizer of the Alton Steel Co., who has been in personal charge of the management in Alton, said the company troubles were due to "stagnant business conditions all over the country" and inability to get a fair price for the company's product. The yards are filled with steel products.

Bank Brings the Suit.

The Alton Banking and Trust Co., as trustee for the first mortgage holders, brought the receivership suit. The order was obtained in Chicago, where Judge Hadley is spending his vacation. J. V. E. Marsh, attorney for the bank, returned to Alton with the order Thursday and it was recorded at the courthouse at Edwardsville.

Four Alton banks, which hold $200,000 of the $300,000 worth of first mortgage bonds, are the Alton Banking and Trust Co., the Alton National Bank, the Citizens' National Bank and the First Trust and Savings Bank. Officials of these banks say they will lose nothing by the receivership.

The Alton Steel Co. was organized by Clark and associates of Erie, Pa. J. R. Hastings is vice-president, M. L. Mozier secretary and E. J. Anglin superintendent. Of the first mortgage bonds $100,000 worth are held by F. W. Fownes and others of Pittsburg, Pa. Eastern financiers hold $350,000 of second mortgage bonds. Of the treasury stock $350,000 was held in reserve to meet the second mortgage bonds.

The formal plea for a receivership was that the insurance on the plant was not properly kept up, and that the company failed to keep its promise of retaining $100,000 in the treasury to operate the plant.

PONTOONS NOW DEPENDED ON TO LIFT "AMERICA"

Planing Boards and Fins Believed to Be Correct in Principle, but Time Is Lacking to Experiment With Them Sufficiently on Over-Sea Flyer.

WORK RUSHED TO GET CRAFT READY BY 18TH

Shipment Must Be Made by Then if Ocean Voyage From St. John's Is to Be Made Under August Moon—Drift Instruments Tried.

(Lieut. Porte will write exclusively for the Post-Dispatch and New York World the story of his flight across the Atlantic.)

HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y., July 9.—Pontoons nearly twice the size of the Langley launching floats are being built for the America. We hope these will get her out of the water easily under full load and at the same time be entirely seaworthy.

The experiments with hydroplaning boards and submerged fins were abandonad today after certain definite and probably valuable results. Mr. Curtiss' submerged fins developed an astonishing lifting power. They made the America, with a total weight of about 4500 pounds, fairly jump out of the water—jump out so quickly, in fact, that speed could not be developed in time to shift the burden to the wings before the weight would drop back into the water.

Mr. Curtiss believes that he has found the correct principle, but it might take weeks of further experimentation to adjust the planes or blades to the exact angles and proportions.

Then, again, the adjustment which might be perfect for the full load might not serve the purpose when the gasoline tanks become empty. So the old Langley launching pontoons were brought out again and attached under the lower wings.

Pontoons Place Close to Hull.

This time they were put close up to the hull instead of out under the wing struts, where last week they lifted 2107 pounds of useful load into the air for a satisfactory flight. They were not put back in the same position because there they would not stand the battering from a rough sea, although close to the hull they did not have the same lifting power, apparently. The water from the boat poured back over the pontoons. We plowed around for a while but succeeded only in kicking up a big sea and learning that the design of the pontoons must be modified.

The two floats being built will be twice as deep as the Langley pontoons, the object being to give more flotation to the hull, in order to keep the "America" from sinking deep into the water. For experiment they will be of lumber, roughly constructed. When we have struck the correct design they will be built of the light three-ply board, stoutly ribbed and coated with canvas like the rest of the hull. I am sorry the blades and fins did not come up to expectations yesterday, for their success would have crowned a fortnight's hard experimentation with a distinct achievement in hydro-aeronautics. There is little doubt that Mr. Curtiss will be able to develop the submerged fins in time, but, unfortunately, we lack the time just now.

The America simply must be finished in time to ship from New York on the 18th if we are to be in St. John's in time for the August moon.

Moonlight Is Important.

How important the moonlight is on the transatlantic attempt was demonstrated last evening when Capt. Creagh Osborn tried out the drift measuring instrument over Lake Keuka. He was taken up by Lieut. John H. Towers, U. S. N., by courtesy of the Navy Department, who telegraphed special permission from Washington for the trial of the instrument in a new Curtiss flying boat for the American navy.

In the poor light of the early evening it was impossible to observe any ripples on the lake, which by that time had almost become glassy. On a bright moonlight night Capt. Creagh Osborn said he believed the motion of the waves at sea would be easily distinguishable through the telescope of the instrument.

The drift instrument was designed by Elmer Sperry, inventor of the gyroscope. If it works out in practical navigation as well as Capt. Osborn believes it will, the serious problem of drift measurement seems to have been solved—and that has been the obstacle to transoceanic aviation which has been held till now to be insurmountable. While conditions over the water were unfavorable to a fair trial, Capt. Osborne took observations from trees he could observe along the lake shore and to his satisfaction he found that he had measured exactly the speed at which the new navy boat was flying—65 miles an hour. Further tests will be made by Capt. Creagh Asborne and Lieut. Towers when conditions on the lake more nearly approximate those at sea.

I abandoned today the idea of going up to St. John's a week ahead of the America, and shall wait here for the completion of the pontoons. After all is said, these delays are only what we should have expected. September was the original starting time and we have been trying to save two months against a possible competitor's attempt. If all goes well, we shall be away with the August moon, and that will be a month ahead of the original schedule.

A sorry effect of the haste was in evidence today, when George Robinson, one of the Curtiss workmen, whose loyalty and zeal has deserved mention before now, keeled over in a faint while working on the adjustment of the pontoons. It was a frightfully hot day, taking the tuck out of all of us. Robinson and a dozen of his fellow workmen have been going night and day, and it is a marvel that some of them have not broken down as well as Mr. Curtiss himself. But an hour after a doctor revived Robinson, he was back at his job and is at it today.

From Thin to Plump Girls.

The expressions of happiness and gratitude of several of his young lady patients for whom he prescribed the recently successful flesh-forming product known as three grain hypo-nuclane tablets, is related by a physician in one of the medical publications and it comes as a surprise to the ordinary layman to learn that heart throbs of distress which seems to effect so many young people who are abnormally thin. Also to know that the weight can be so readily increased by the use, regularly for several months, of this peculiarly named preparation, now obtainable of the best physicians and apothecary shops in sealed packages with complete instructions for self-administration.—ADVERTISEMENT.

No toilet table is complete without a small package of delatone, for with it hair or fuzz can be quickly banished from the skin. To remove hairs you merely mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the objectionable hairs. This should be left on the skin about 2 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed, when it will be found free from hair or blemish. Be sure you get genuine delatone.—Adv.

REVENUE CUTTER MEN UNDER FIRE SAVE REFUGEES

Forty-Two Americans and Porto Ricans Rescued From Beleagered Puerto Plata.

BULLETS STRUCK NEAR

Party Taken Into Small Boats During Sharp Exchange of Shots by Opposing Forces.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—How 42 Americans and Porto Ricans, refugees in the besieged city of Puerto Plata, were taken out and safely landed on the revenue cutter Algonquin on June 26, under a heavy fire from the Dominican Federal troops and the Legalistas, was related in details received today at revenue cutter headquarters.

When the Algonquin reached Puerto Plata on June 25, the battleship South Carolina, the German cruiser Dresden and the United States gunboat Machias were anchored outside of the reef. A Dominican gunboat was blockading Puerto Plata, held by the Legalistas, and troops of President Bordas were besieging the city on land.

The revenue cutter officers conferred with the commanding officer of the South Carolina, who agreed to take the refugees from their pier and land them on the Algonquin. However, sniping and fighting were so sharp that it was not deemed advisable to make the attempt until early on the morning of June 26.

Lieut. Whitbeck, commanding small boats, went after the refugees. There was a sharp exchange of fire between the Legatistas and the Bordas troops, and bullets struck the water all about the rescue vessels. No one on the boats was struck.

There were nine Americans and 33 Porto Ricans in the party, all of whom were taken back to San Juan, Porto Rico. Thirteen were women, 10 were men and 19 children. Frank K. Wilson an American citizen was among them.

Reckless firing by Dominican rebels sent several shots against the hull of the American gunboat Machies in Puerta Plata harbor late Tuesday night and drew upon themselves a warning volley from the Machies' three-pounders and automatic rifles. The shooting from shore stopped at once.

A few days ago the gunboat used her main battery of four-inch guns to silence President Bordas' batteries, which were bombarding the rebel garrison holding the city in violation of the agreement that the lives of foreigners and other noncombatants would not be endangered by artillery fire.

Reporting the latest incident to the Navy Department, Capt. Russell of the battleship South Carolina said considerable scattering rifle fire from the rebels passed over the Machias and some shots struck her. Later, the dispatch said, the "junta commission of legalities" representing the revolutionists, boarded the Machias and gave assurance of their desire to avoid endangering the safety of Americans.

Capt. Russell informed the department that he had a cable report that Santo Domingo City still was besieged by rebels and that other towns had joined the "legalista cause." Late yesterday a force of about 60 rebels was defeated at Cafemba.

With four separate revolutions raging simultaneously and the American Minister to the country returning home after several months of fruitless effort to restore peace, the little republic of San Domingo is causing grave anxiety on the part of the Washington Government, which is morally bound to maintain order there under the semi-protectorate created by treaty.

For many months President Bordas, obliged to maintain himself in office by a series of extra official decrees and partial elections, has been leading in person his troops against the rebellious generals in the northern part of the republic without being able to overcome them.

Meanwhile revolutions have started in other sections, at Azua, where the Government navy found it necessary to destroy the customhouse; along the line of railway between Sanchez and Samana Bay at Monte Cristi and La Romana in the southeast corner of the island. In this last neighborhood there are some extensive American-owned plantations, the agents for which appeared at the State Department today, looking for protection for their property from the unorganized bands of revolutionists.

Official opinion is crystallizing into a conviction that only through powerful outside influence, and probably that of the United States can these chaotic conditions be terminated and a stable Government set up.

UTILITY EXPERT FINDS FLAWS IN WATER FRANCHISE

James J. Rafter Says East St. Louis Company Should Lay Mains to Lot Lines.

URGES VOTE OF MEASURE

The $75,000 Paid City, He Says, Is Really Nothing but a Loan.

James J. Rafter, an East St. Louis attorney with wide experience in public utility corporation litigation and one of the citizens objecting to the 30-year water franchise passed by the East St Louis Council, Monday, in a statement to a Post-Dispatch reporter, contends that the Illinois Public Service Commission will have no power to give water consumers the rights bartered away by the Council for $75,000.

Mayor Chamberlin and Corporation Counsel Baxter had said that the State commission could make any changes in the franchise it saw fit, and that the public would be fully protected.

Rafter declares that from a legal standpoint the commission could only regulate the rates of the water company, and that the franchise is a contract for which the city receives $75,000 and that the water company can make its regulations to fit the terms of the franchise with little danger of interference from the commission.

Rafter protested to Mayor Chamberlin Wednesday against the signing of the ordinance granting the franchise, and urged the Mayor to veto it.

Burden Put on Consumer.

"The principal objections I see to the franchise," said Rafter, "are that the water company is relieved from laying service pipes from the water mains to the lot lines and that this burden is placed on the consumer; that the earning power of the plant is to be the basis on which the city can purchase the plant and that the rates are not specifically set out.

"The ordinance provides that the water rates shall be subject to regulation by the public service commission. They would be if that provision was left out of the ordinance.

"But that is as far as the Public Service Commisson can go. It has no judicial powers and it cannot direct changes in the franchise. The private citizen has no right to go onto the streets of East St. Louis and lay water pipes. The city grants to the water company the exclusive right to do this, and it is the duty of the company to lay its pipes to the lot line, the only place the private citizen has any right to receive water.

"Under this franchise the citizen would be required to lay the pipe from the main through the street. Even with this franchise he could compel the water company to do this, but it would mean a long legal fight at great expense and would cost more than to lay the pipe. The result would be that the company would have the public pay directly the cost of a lot of its plant, in addition to paying for the plant in its water rates.

"If the franchise required the water company to bear this expense, the Public Service Commission could compel carrying out of the franchise without expense to the individual.

Rates Are Higher.

"The administration makes it appear that the city will receive $75,000 for the franchise. This amounts only to a loan of $75,000, which the city will pay back with great interest. In the first place, the rates are higher than in other cities, though the company is at less expense than in other cities.

"Through its high rates and the payment by consumers of the laying of service pipes, the company will easily get its $75,000 in a year or two.

"Then this $75,000, expended by the company in this manner, really becomes a part of plant investment and on the usual theories of rate making, the company would have a right to earn dividends on this investment. In addition to this, if the city ever buys the plant it would have to consider this $75,000 as a part of the plant value on which the purchase price would be based.

"I told Mayor Chamberlin that he ought to veto this bill. I told him that if he signed it he would find that nearly every property owner of the city would register his protest at the next election."

Rafter recently fought through the courts a suit to compel the water company to maintain in good condition the pipe leading from the main to his property. The pipe broke, and the company notified Rafter to repair it. He refused on the ground that it was the company's duty to repair the pipe. The company threatened to turn off his water and Rafter brought an injunction suit.

The verdict of the St. Clair County Circuit Court was against the water company, which appealed to the Court of Appeals. Rafter said that after the argument of the case the company dismissed its appeal, rather than risk final determination of the case and the placing of an opinion in it in the court reports.

The company repaired his pipe and paid the costs of the suit.

William E. Rutledge, formerly a minister and later publisher of religious and anti-saloon papers, in a letter to the Post-Dispatch protests against the water franchise. He estimates that in 30 years the citizens of East St. Louis will pay the company several million dollars more than it should pay.

John J. Gavin, a Council member who voted against the franchise, told a reporter that the ordinance was introduced and passed with much secrecy. He denied the statement of Mayor Chamberlain that all councilmen were furnished with copies of the ordinance two days before it was voted on.

"I did not at any time have a copy of it," Gavin said, "not even at the meeting, though I heard it read. We were given no opportunity to consider it in detail. I opposed it principally because I did not believe in rushing through an important matter of the kind, and because I believed that public hearings should have been held to learn whether the people wanted it."

BARTLETT TO SAIL TO RESCUE OF 21 MAROONED MEN

Party From the Wrecked Karluk of Stefansson Arctic Expedition on an Island.

By Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 9.—The revenue cutter Bear, with Capt. Robert A. Bartlett, late of the Stefansson exploring ship Karluk, will sail from Nome, according to advices received today, probably within a week, for Wrankell Island, off the coast of Alaska, to take off 18 white men and four Eskimos, one of them a woman, who have been on the island since March 10, when they arrived from the scene of the wreck of the Karluk. The report that several men of the Karluk expedition were lost is an error, according to Capt. Bartlett.

The Karluk was crushed by the ice Jan. 10, north of Herald Island. The men took all the provisions off the ship and placed them on the ice, also every thing else of value on the boat, which sank the next day. Herald Island was in sight to the south, and two parties set out for the Island, but were unable to land.

A description of their experiences sent by Bartlett to Ottawa, was taken to mean that the parties did not afterward rejoin their comrades. This, however, Bartlett said yesterday, was an error. The whole party made their way to Wrangel Island. Then Bartlett and an Eskimo team of dogs set out over the ice for North Cape, Siberia, and crossed the Siberian peninsula to Bering Sea, finally arriving at Nome. About the same time a party of men went back over the ice to get supplies left at the scene of the wreck.

It is supposed that they returned safely, as the journey was neither long nor dangerous.

White Men on Island.

The white men now on Wrangel Island are:

Henry Beuchat, anthropologist; Bejarne Mamen, assistant topographer; Dr. Alister Forbes-Mackay, surgeon; George S. Malloch, geologist; William Laird McKinley, magnetician; James Murray, oceanographer; Alexander Anderson, first mate; John Munroe, first engineer; Charles Barter, second mate; Robert Williamson, second engineer; F. W. Maurer, fireman; George Breddy, fireman; John Brody, Thomas Morris, P. King, A. Williams, seamen; Robert Templeton, steward; Ernest Chase, cabin boy.

So far as known none of the men suffered any serious mishaps. They have abundance of food and clothing and have excellent dog teams. With the return of the wild fowl in spring they were able to change from pemmican to roast duck.

The length of time required for the Bear's voyage to Wrangel Island depends on the condition of the sea. The island is said to be difficult to land on, on account of the ice.

SEVEN BOYS START FIRE, ESCAPE FROM INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

Ten Set Paper Ablaze as Excuse for Fleeing and Three Are Caught Quickly.

After starting a fire in a small bundle of papers as an excuse for using the fire escape, eight boys fled from the Industrial School (House of Refuge), 4035 Virginia avenue, at 11 p. m. Wednesday.

The room where the fire was set is a second-floor dormitory occupied by 93 boys. Arthur Wagner, a guard, was on duty at the dormitory door when he smelled smoke. In the corner of the room farthest from the door he saw several boys in a group, and near them on the floor were a few sheets of paper in flames.

Suspecting a plot, Wagner ran toward the windows, where the fire escapes are. Before he could get there 10 of the boys had gone down the escape.

Wagner tramped out the fire and sounded a call for other guards.

Two of the escaping boys were captured as they ran across the courtyard. The other eight climbed to the roof of a one-story chapel and crawled over the outer wall.

All are still at large except Frank Vishnau, 15 years old, who was captured at 12:15 a. m. at Pennsylvania avenue and Arsenal street, a few blocks from the school. He wore only a night shirt.

The boys who escaped are Walter Robbins, 16 years old; Theodore Shott, 16; Marvin Adams, 14; Richard Jones, 14; Henry Bruce, 16; John Trembold, 15, and Thomas Collins, 14.

MERIWETHER GIVES TWELFTH DISTRICT VOTERS A CHANCE

He Appeals to People Direct, Instead of Bosses, to Nominate Him for Congress.

Lee Meriwether is giving the Twelfth District a decided novelty in his campaign for the Democratic nomination for Congress there. He is asking the voters to support him.

In past campaigns the voters have not had much to say about nominations in the Twelfth District. Party committees have nominated their favorites, and their motto has been "The people be d—isregarded."

Under this system, the Twelfth District, comprising central and downtown St. Louis, which is one of the richest congressional districts of the United States, in realty and building valuations, has become one of the most disreputable politically. At Washington it has become proverbial that the Twelfth Missouri sends men in at the front door of Congress, only to be thrown out at the back door. Four times in the last 13 years, the men elected, on the face of the returns, have been turned out of their seats because of proof of gross election frauds. The greater part of the blame for these frauds has been placed on Democratic election officials, who have been chosen by the district committee of that party.

Plan to Repeat Old Tactics.

Even since the primary system of making nominations has been in use, the politicians have managed to keep their hold in the Twelfth. They are planning to repeat their former tactics this year. The district Democratic committee has picked John P. Collins, former State Senator, as its candidate for Congress, and Meriwether, opposing Collins for the nomination, has found that he will have to fight the committee also.

Meriwether has begun a nightly speaking campaign, which he intends to keep up until the primary Aug. 4. Wednesday night he spoke almost in front of the saloon run by John Clooney, one of the committeemen supporting Collins, at Chouteau and Compton avenues. He has announced a rally at Channing avenue and Olive street for next Monday night.

Some of Meriwether's supporters are urging his nomination on the ground that Collins, if nominated, could not be elected, and that his nomination would mean the election of almost any Republican who might be put up against him. The election of a Democrat, to uphold the Wilson policies through the second half of the administration, is considered highly important. Meriwether is not attacking Collins in his speeches, but he is telling the voters what he thinks of the district committee.

Duty of Party Committee.

"My idea of the duty of a party committee," said Meriwether to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "is that it should give all aspirants a fair show for the nomination, and that after the nomination is made it should give the nominee its whole-hearted support. Unless it does the first of these things, it cannot be depended on to do the second.

"There are seven members of the Twelfth District Democratic Committee. Six of them are actively supporting Collins. The Seventh, Lawler Daley, is not supporting anyone. That, in my opinion, is the correct attitude for a member of the committee to assume. I am not asking the committeemen to support me.

"When I first made known my intention to run I was visited by Arthur Fitzsimmons, chairman of the City Committee, and a member of the District Committee. He told me that the committee had lined up for Collins, and that the nomination had been promised to Collins. I asked him who had the right to promise anyone a nomination which, under the law, must be made by the Democratic voters of the district.

People of the Twelfth.

"Seeing that the committee's 'promise' made no impression on me, Fitzsimmons then turned to the 'practical' style of argument. He told me the Twelfth was composed of a rough element. The voters in the Twelfth, he said, didn't care anything about my economic ideas, and couldn't understand the words I would use in my speeches. The kind of man they want, he told me, is one who will get up at 3 o'clock in the morning to get one of them out of jail.

"I told Fitzsimmons that I didn't agree with his statement of the district, and that I intended to go out and see for myself what kind of people lived in it. I have lived in the district 31 years, and I know that in the neighborhood of my home, at 3716 Delmar avenue, some of the former private residences are now boarding houses. I also know that, in the eastern end of the district, there are many families of small means, and some men, living in lodging houses, who have been unfortunate.

What a Pencil Could Do.

"But I also believed that working people are as conscientious as any others, and that because a man lives in a crowded neighborhood, it does not follow that he neglects his duty as a citizen. When I opened my campaign Monday night, I spoke from the Courthouse steps, and my hearers were mostly from the immediate neighborhood, but I never spoke to a more attentive crowd.

"I invited Collins to appear before the voters with me, but he declined to do so. He seems to depend entirely on the committee. I am going to see what can be done by going to the people.

"In my opinion, the committee is overestimating its power. Under the old law, it selected the judges and clerks of election. The late Col. Ed Butler once said to me, 'What's the use of your wasting your time running for office? One of my boys, with a 5-cent lead pencil, can kill more votes in a minute than you can get in a week.' And with his 'boys' serving as election officials, he undoubtedly knew what he was talking about.

"But under the present law, the election commissioners select the judges and clerks, and I have been informed that they intend to do all they can to insure everybody a fair count in the primary.

"I was amused, the other day, to receive an appeal for funds from the Democratic City Committee. It was signed by Patrick O'Donnell, secretary, who is using the city committee's stationery in the letters that he is sending out in behalf of Collins. When the committee, which is intended to be the impartial agent of the party, turns itself into a campaign bureau for one man, I am not impressed with the duty of contributing to it."

The district committee consists of the members of the city committee in the seven wards composing the district—Tom Egan, Fifth Ward; Patrick O'Donnell, Sixth; Edward Rice, Seventh; Arthur Fitzsimmons, Fifteenth; John Clooney, Sixteenth; Lawler Daley, Seventeenth; and James Griffin, Twenty-third.

Series of Vote Scandals.

The series of political scandals which have made the Twelfth Missouri a byword in Washington began in 1900, when the late Edward Butler, who dominated the Democratic committee in the district, made his son, James J. Butler, the nominee.

The word went out that Butler was to be "put over," though the district had been a Republican one. The election was a carnival of fraud, which was not confined to either side. Butler was elected, on the face of the returns. A Republican Congress, reviewing the evidence in a contest proceeding, declared the frauds had been so great that neither candidate could be seated, and declared the seat vacant.

Butler was renominated for the "short term" thus created, and for the long term following, and ran for both terms at the 1902 election. He was elected on the face of the returns, but George C. R. Wagner, the Republican short term candidate, filed a contest, and after another fraud hearing, Butler was thrown out on the eve of the adjournment, so that Wagoner held the seat one day. Butler was permitted to serve the long term.

In 1904 Ernest E. Wood, a lawyer, got the Butler support as the Democratic nominee, and was elected, on the face of the returns, over Harry M. Coudrey, Republican. Again fraud was proven, and again Congress threw out the incumbent, seating Coudrey.

Coudrey was elected in 1906, and re-elected in 1908, his opponent in those years being Colin M. Selph. In his last term Coudrey became involved in an insurance scandal, connected with the promotion of the so-called "twin companies." He has since been sentenced to a term of four years and six months in the Federal Penitentiary for using the mails to defraud. He is now at liberty on bond, pending the hearing of his appeal.

In 1910 the late Thomas E. Kinney was the Democratic nominee and L. C. Dyer the Republican. Dyer was elected and Kinney filed a contest, charging fraud. He died while the contest was pending, and in 1912 the Democrats nominated Michael J. Gill to run against Dyer. After Gill was nominated the Kinney faction was turned against him by a charge that Gill had "scratched" Tom Kinney's name in the 1910 election. He was "knifed" by the Kinney faction in the election, and was defeated on the face of the returns. He filed a contest, charging that he had been beaten through frauds committed by Democratic election officials. On the evidence which he produced, Congress recently unseated Dyer, though holding him personally blameless for the frauds.

Gill is a candidate for renomination in the Twelfth District. The contest is believed to lie between Meriwether and Collins.

EXPANSION SALE

WE have leased the entire Third Floor of the "Brandt Building" next door—this additional space to be added to our Ready-to-Wear Section. When the intervening wall is removed, Sonnenfeld's will have the LARGEST SALESROOM IN ST. LOUIS DEVOTED EXCLUSIVELY TO THE DISPLAY OF WOMEN'S AND MISSES' WEARING APPAREL—a total area of 15,000 square feet—twice the size of our present quarters.

THE wall between the two buildings will soon be removed and rather than jeopardize our stock and run the risk of having garments soiled from the debris, dirt and dust, we are naming prices so low that a complete disposal of everything should follow immediately—we prefer to take a heavy loss in profit rather than have our merchandise deteriorate in value.

TOMORROW AT 8:30, OUR ENTIRE STOCK OF WEARING APPAREL GOES ON SALE AT LESS THAN COST—the tremendous reductions, embracing without reservation, all our beautiful NEW SUMMER DRESSES, SUITS, COATS, SKIRTS, ETC.—EVEN INCLUDING SEVERAL ASSORTMENTS OF EARLY FALL GOODS THAT WOULD BRING FULL PRICES IN ANOTHER MONTH.

Every woman in St. Louis should be here tomorrow — these unusual circumstances enable you to supply every apparel need at the most drastic price reductions of the season. When you consider the fact that PRICES WILL BE FULLY ONE-THIRD LESS THAN THE EXTREMELY LOW CLEARING SALE FIGURES WHICH HAVE BEEN IN EFFECT THE LAST WEEK, the importance and magnitude of this event will surely compel your prompt attendance.

FUNSTON CONFERS WITH HUERTA CHIEF NEAR VERA CRUZ

American General Meets Federal Commander at Gap in Railroad, Explains Trip of Party of Men Into Mexican Lines and Thanks Him for Returning Marines

BRITISH ADMIRAL IS PRESENT AT MEETING

Craddock Reported on Way to Capital to Arrange for Guard at Embassy—Reports That Huerta's Family Has Fled Not Credited.

VERA CRUZ, July 9.—Brigadier-General Funston today made a trip to the gap in the railroad, leading to the City of Mexico, where he conferred briefly with Lieutenant-Colonel Izunza, commander of the Mexican Federal troops.

On his return the American General said nothing important had been discussed but that he had thanked Col. Izunza for several recent courtesies extended to Americans such as the return of two marines who had wandered out of the lines.

Gen. Funston also explained the recent trip of a small mounted party from the American garrison at El Tejar to Medillin, a village within the Federal lines. Col. Izunza yesterday had called the attention of the American authorities to the incident saying he regretted its occurrence as such movements were liable to bring about an unnecessary clash and loss of life.

When the train bearing Gen. Funston reached the gap the Federal commander and an aide came through the American lines and the conference was held on board the flat car at the head of the train in which Gen. Funston had made the journey in company with Rear Admiral Sir Christopher Craddock, the British naval commander, who was on his way to Mexico City.

Admiral Craddock said he was going to confer with Sir Lionel Carden, the British Minister, and it was reported here that he intended to discuss the advisability of sending British legation guards to Mexico City.

American and other passengers who arrived here today from the capital did not bring any confirmation of the report that Gen. Huerta's wife and some other members of his family had already left the City of Mexico.

President Likely to Make Plans on Mexico Known Soon.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—That the Washington Government would give within a few days some manifestation of the policy it intends to pursue to meet any new development in the Mexican situation, was the belief expressed today in many quarters. President Wilson and his advisors still awaited official information of the Constitutionalists' attitude toward a proposed peace conference with Huerta's envoys. They declined to comment on reports, partly confirmed in Washington, to the effect that the revolutionary leaders would not agree to a parley.

The status of mediation proceedings and disposition of the American troops at Vera Cruz are two of the pressing features hanging on the ultimate attitude of the Constitutionalists toward the proposed peace meeting.

Military leaders of the Constitutionalists, among whom Carranza is taking a vote, were strongly opposed to the idea of any parley, it was said. They want to follow the "plan of Guadalupe," their platform of principles. That outlines the establishment of a military government after the capture of Mexico City and pacification of the country under martial law.

The movement today of Villa's troops northward from their Zacatecas campaign was explained by statements from some quarters that the United States and a few European nations had urged that the Northern General be not allowed to reach Mexico City first. Administration officials declined to comment on such reports.

U. S. Assailed for Aiding Rebels in Report to Mexican Congress.

MEXICO CITY, Mex., July 9.—The references which have arisen between the United States and Mexico were the subject of a report read before the Senate and Chamber of Deputies yesterday afternoon by the acting oFreign Minister, Roberto Esteva-Ruiz, who declared that the trouble between the two countries was bound up with the internal conflict in Mexico, "owing to the assistance and support given by the United States to the revolutionists." The report expressed readiness on the part of the Huerta government to negotiate with the Constitutionalists for the establishment of a new provisional administration which would assure political peace in Mexico and made clear President Huerta's willingness to resign if thereby such peace could be secured.

Committee Opposes House Inquiry on Arms Embargo.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Acting in accord with State Department recommendations that it was unwise to agitate the Mexico question in Congress at this time, the House Foreign Affairs committee today voted to report unfavorably the Kahn resolution calling for information of alleged official assurances that Constitutionalists might import arms from the United States by [illegible]

CITY OBJECTS TO STATE CONTROL OVER WATERWORKS

Wall to Ask Service Commission Not to Interfere With Publicly Owned Utilities.

Water Commissioner Wall and City Counselor Baird will appear before the State Public Service Commission at Jefferson City, July 28, to argue that the commission should not undertake to control the St. Louis Water Department or other public utilities which are under public ownership.

The commission has announced a number of rules applying to water, gas and electric light companies throughout the State, and has given notice that these rules will apply to the municipally owned St. Louis waterworks. Wall figures that the changes provided in the rules would cost the city several hundred thousand dollars annually, would not improve the quality of the service and might cause a raise in the rates.

One rule to which Wall objects is that which requires that the city shall acquire all meters now privately owned. Of the 7000 meters now in use in St. Louis, some 3000 are privately owned. Another requirement to which Wall objects is that six per cent interest must be paid on any meter deposits retained longer than 60 days. This would cost the city over $50,000 a year, Wall says.

A hearing of all water companies affected by the commission's new rules has been set for July 28, and Wall will then argue that the commission should not interfere in the management of publicly owned waterworks. The statute establishing the commission mentions publicly owned as well as privately owned utilities, but Wall will ask that the commission lay down a policy of noninterference with the former class of utilities.

Sheriff Saves Negro From Mob.

BAY SPRINGS, Miss., July 9.—A mob which last night attempted to lynch Mose Johnson, a negro, was baffled by Sheriff Jones, who called on 30 citizens to reinforce his posse of 13 deputies. The mob dispersed early today.

The negro killed one man in robbing the pay car of the Gilchrist-Fordney Co. of $2300 in currency.

AUTO JUST MISSES DITCH

Candidate for Congress and Friends Narrowly Escape.

While returning with a number of friends from a political gathering at Maryland Heights, about 10 miles from Clayton, Jacob Meeker of 1800 South Compton avenue, St. Louis, Republican candidate for Congress from the Tenth District and former Congregational minister, ran his machine into a fence and narrowly escaped being ditched over a steep embankment. The accident occurred on the Link road, St. Louis County, one-half mile east of Maryland Heights, about 9:30 Wednesday night.

With Meeker in the car were John Willman, Marshal in University City; Harry Wentler, Deputy Sheriff, of Clayton, and S. M. Dodd, Circuit Clerk of Clayton, none of whom was injured.

WARBURG YIELDS, WILSON TO FIGHT FOR CONFIRMATION

New York Banker Makes Condition He Shall Not Be Cross-Examined by Committee.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Paul Warburg, New York banker, has reconsidered his request that President Wilson withdraw his nomination as a member of the Federal Reserve Board, on the condition that he will not consent to appear before the Senate Banking Committee to be cross-examined.

It was said today by officials close to the President that an active fight would be made for the confirmation of Warburg, as a result of the banker's decision. It was declared that should the Banking Committee fail to report the nomination favorably the President would expect the Senate as a whole to act.

Warburg's telegram to the President was not given out, but after its receipt officials at the White House said the name would not be withdrawn. That followed a visit by Senators Thomas and Shafroth to the White House. They are understood to have told the President that only a few Democrats would oppose Warburg's confirmation.

The situation as to the nomination of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago remained unchanged and it was said at the White House that the President would continue to press for his confirmation.

A letter from the Chicago delegation of business men received yesterday by the President, indorsing Mr. Wilson's statement in support of Warburg and Jones, was made public at the White House.

"No more hopeful, helpful words have ever come from the White House and we believe they will meet with the nation's hearty approval," said the letter.

No official word went from the White House to the committee, but some Senators were indicating that the committee would stand by its request. It was said two Democrats on the committee planned to compile all the correspondence in the case and send it to the White House.

The Warburg nomination was discussed only informally today by the committee. It took up in detail the nomination of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago.

Held for Trial as Wife Slayer.

FULTON, Mo., July 9.—Frank Roe, charged with the murder of his wife, was held for trial after a preliminary hearing here yesterday. Mrs. Roe was shot through the neck with a rifle June 2 while she and other members of the family were on a fishing trip. Roe asserted the killing was accidental. Testimony at the hearing today brought in the name of another woman.

SUES TO BLOCK $117,000 CLAIM AGAINST ESTATE

L. G. Blackmer Asks That Creditors of Parkview Realty Co. Be Prohibited From Suing.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 9.—Lucian G. Blackmer of Webster Groves, administrator of the estate of his father, Lucian B. Blackmer, today filed application with the Supreme Court for a writ of prohibition against Circuit Judge McElhinney of St. Louis County to prevent him from reviving the claim of creditors of the Parkview Realty Co. for $117,000 against the estate of his father, who it is alleged, was a stockholder in the company.

The petition declares that Edward G. Schall, Public Administrator of St. Louis County, took charge of the Blackmer estate at the investigation of plaintiffs in the case, without legal authority, and that the case was revived by serving notice on Schall as administrator of the estate when he bore no such relation to the estate.

Lucian B. Blackmer died March 28, 1914, and, though the law gives the widow or sons and daughters 30 days in which to take out letters of administration, the petition sets out that Schall published notice, April 8, that he had taken charge of the estate as administrator.

Schall was brought into the Circuit Court as administrator of the defendant's estate on a writ of scire facies to answer to the pleading, but the Probate Court, on complaint of the Blackmer heirs, appointed Lucian G. Blackmer administrator of the estate and entered an order to the effect that Schall was not and could not have been administrator of the estate before the expiration of the 30 days.

On motion of Edward J. Scott et al., plaintiffs in the suit, the name of Lucian G. Blackmer was substituted for that of Schall on the writ of scire facias and he was ordered to show cause why the case should not be revived against him as administrator.

Blackmer contends that the service on Schall is void because he never was appointed administrator, and asks a writ of prohibition because of lack of service.

Poisoned Well Suspect Held.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 9.—Joseph Tanner, of Canandaigua, an aged farmer, charged with putting poison in the well of Andre Metrailles on the night of July 3, has been held for the October Grand Jury. Bail was fixed at $2500.

FRED A. BUSSE, FORMER CHICAGO MAYOR, DEAD

Prominent in Republican City and State Politics for Twenty Years.

CHICAGO, July 9.—Fred A. Busse, former Mayor of Chicago, died at his home here today. Busse had been seriously ill for some weeks, and his death was expected.

Physicians' examinations showed there was a serious leak in his heart. He suffered a relapse three days ago, and was taken to Mercy Hospital and then to his home. The doctors discovered in Busse what they called a "bad heart murmur."

Busse was receiver for the O'Gara Coal Co and Kellogg-Mackey Co., against both of which bankruptcy proceedings exist in the Federal Court. Busse in his capacity as receiver had $136,700 of the money of the Kellogg-Mackey Co. and $26,000 of the O'Gara company.

Had Money in Lorimer Bank.

About the time of his death today, William C. Niblack, receiver for the defunct La Salle Trust and Savings Bank, was filing in the Circuit Court a denial that the United States Government and Busse, because of their bankruptcy deposits, were entitled to priority or preference in the settlement of accounts of the bank. Niblack says the bank is not indebted to the Government in any way.

Busse suffered from an insidious poison which the doctors had a hard time combating. During his illness he suffered relapses, only to rally again. He became discouraged three days ago and asked to be taken to his home.

Busse was a prominent figure in Republican politics in Chicago and Illinois for nearly a score of years. In conjunction with James Pease he controlled the Republican organizations of the North Side wards.

He was born in Chicago March 3, 1866, of German parentage. While big of body and brusque in manner, he was extremely sensitive and modest and possessed the quality of making friends. He was a good mixer in politics and was popular among the political workers of the wards he controlled.

In his boyhood he attended the Chicago public schools and later drove a wagon for his father, who was in the hardware business. He organized a teaming company, was in the street cleaning business, and later in the coal business.

He dabbled in politics from the time he was able to vote. In 1891 he served a term as North Town Clerk. Then he was employed as a bailiff in the State courts and as a deputy sheriff. In 1894 he was elected a Representative to the General Assembly of Illinois and served three terms. In 1898 he was sent to the State Senate and became a leader in the Republican State machine. He was elected Treasurer of Illinois in 1902, and in 1905 was appointed Postmaster of Chicago by President Roosevelt.

Two years later he was elected Mayor of the city, being the first official to serve the newly authorized four-year term. Busse was sick in bed of injuries received in a railroad wreck when the nomination was tendered to him and he remained bedridden until after the election.

He was the first German-American to head the municipal government and the second native Chicagoan to be chosen to that office. In 1908 he married Miss Josephine Lee of Chicago.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The Panama Articles.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have been much interested in the Panama Canal articles appearing in the Post-Dispatch. Recent dispatches from Washington have hinted at a scandal in the Roosevelt administration. Your articles show in detail what this scandal was.

For the life of me, I cannot understand why the Post-Dispatch uses so much space and energy on this subject unless it is to boost Roosevelt. Any person who knows anything of the history of Colombia and Panama will fail to see any scandal in what the Post-Dispatch has, so far, published. Roosevelt no doubt would be pleased to have all newspapers follow the Post-Dispatch's example. R. B.

As to Rabbits.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Sidney Averill has a kind heart and I admire his brief letters in this column. But when he makes a plea for a rabbit, urging that it be permitted to die a natural death, he is more sentimental than thoughtful. Rabbits in their wild state, through enormous fecundity, tend to become vermin. They would, undisturbed, destroy all cultivated fields. Has Mr. Averill not heard of the rabbit plague in Australia? W.

Mr. Hazard Explains.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

You do me great injustice when you say I cherish thoughts to resort "to stronger means." I emphatically do not cherish any such ideas, and God helping me, I will never do so.

In my statement I simply intended to convey the idea in a general way that if the papers continued to print distorted news on our national problems of vital importance, that there is bound to be a strong protest against the interests that are responsible for these articles.

If I did believe in the principal of disorder and riot (which I do not), my position would be more nearly defensible, if I made my position clear, than the man that supports and furthers the Wilson policies, and then says that he is not a Democrat but an "independent."

THOMAS R. HAZARD.

Noise Mufflers for Street Cars.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Has it ever occurred to you that street cars can be, and should be, successfully "muffled," by hanging in front, on sides and in rear some noise-absorbing material, low enough to just clear the surface of the street? N. O. NOISE.

A Champion of Husband's Rights.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In answer to Mrs. Katherine Parker's letter, I wish to say that woman suffrage is not a matter of intelligence as much as it is a matter of superiority. Everything on earth tends to show the good Lord created and intended man to be the leader, and should the women be granted the ballot it cannot but come directly into the home, where, in a great many cases, it would be one against the other. Everything successful in the civilized world has but one leader. Some people argue: "Why not run the home on a partnership basis?" If you have ever worked for or are intimately acquainted with two men in partnership, you will know without a doubt which is the leader, and that his word is final.

The best thing any married woman who has a sober and industrious husband can do is to listen to him; he may be wrong at times, but in the long run, as a rule, you will find him the most broad-minded of the two.

A WELL WISHER FOR WOMEN.

Exasperating.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I am reminded by Gov. Francis' recent bout with a street car door to say that it would be to the interest of the United Railways to have a representative stand at the corner of Grand avenue and Olive street during th rush hours in the morning and watch the conductors on the trailers slam the doors in persons' faces. This is done generally, and when there is no occasion for it, as it usually occurs when passengers are still filing into the front car. I have felt like doing the Gov. Francis act frequently. JOHN J. JONES.

SENATOR STONE'S RECORD.

In lieu of a personal canvass for renomination Senator William J. Stone sends to his Missouri constituents a statement of his work in the United States Senate since the beginning of the Wilson administration. His excuse for not coming to Missouri to meet his constituents at this time is that he is too busy aiding in the completion of the pending legislative program—an excuse which is creditable to the Senator and acceptable to the people of the State.

The Post-Dispatch has not been an admirer of Senator Stone in the past. We have not spared him criticism for acts and methods we thought to be deserving of criticism. We believe in fairness to every man in public life. We believe that every public man should be judged by his record. Following the rule of impartial fairness with which we pointed out Senator Stone's faults and shortcomings in his earlier career, we feel bound to credit him with an excellent record and valuable service to the Democratic administration and the people of the country.

Reciting his work and votes in the Senate, the Senator asks fair judgment and we cheerfully give it. A man of ability and an adroit politician, skilled in the art of handling other men and dealing with political forces, Senator Stone has devoted his talents and skill with singular effectiveness to the enactment of legislation demanded by the people. He has not only supported the President, but according to the President's testimony, he has given him invaluable aid in organizing and harmonizing the progressive forces in the Senate. He was a tower of strength in the tariff fight. Although differing in some points of opinion from Mr. Wilson he has loyally supported his policies at home and abroad. His work has been valuable during troublous times in the Foreign Relations Committee. Physical disability has to some extent interfered with his labors, but he has not spared himself.

Senator Stone's later work proves that he has grown in mental and moral stature. He has a broader vision and a higher standard of public service. His relations with the President, his standing and great influence in the Senate, give his official service special value.

The general recognition of the excellence of Senator Stone's recent record is accountable, doubtless, for the apparent absence of formidable opposition to his candidacy.

ANOTHER ROCKEFELLER BIRTHDAY.

Notwithstanding he has lived to see Standard Oil, the fruit of his life work, dissolved, Mr. John D. Rockefeller yesterday passed another fairly comfortable birthday, thank you.

It was his seventy-fifth and found him hale and hearty, playing his regular per diem of 18 holes in about 90, which is not bad if you are not ambitious, but philosophical.

We congratulate Mr. Rockefeller on the natal anniversary and express the hope that he has many more years of golf in him and that he will confine himself strictly all those years to golf.

WORK FOR THE ELDER STATESMEN.

That is a happy thought of Mayor Kiel's to appoint former Mayors of St. Louis upon the Complaint Board that is to be established under the new city charter. Who better qualified than Messrs. Francis, Walbridge, Kreismann, Wells, Noonan and Filley, past city executives, to sift wheat from chaff in "kicks" on city and corporate services? Who could more wisely advise reforms?

They must serve without pay, but the work will not be arduous—an hour once or twice a week, with clerks to do the routine. Membership in the Complaint Board, if it shall be constituted hereafter, as Mayor Kiel hopes it may be, will become the final badge of local distinction, the ultimate public honor, the thirty-third degree of office holding, the last and highest mark of confidence conferred by the community upon its favorite citizens.

Youth for action, maturity for sage counsel. Here's to St. Louis' Board of Elder Statesmen!

"DRY" GOLF.

Chicago's country clubs have gone" dry" in obedience to the local option law, and the question will be tested whether golf can survive drouth of this sort.

It has been suggested that the effect of drinks on the game was purely psychological, that actually golfers drink very little as a class, and the best ones none at all. Ouimet and Harry Vardon are total abstainers. Nevertheless, the "drink holes," 9 and 18, or sometimes 10 and 18, or even 11 and 18, as the case may be—but always 18—do operate as a potent stimulus to competition and lend a vital incentive to sport, saving many an otherwise dull game from sheer innocuous desuetudinosity.

The Chicago country clubs, Sahara-like wastes, will have to demonstrate a superior article of golf to justify the omission of the oases and make of their necessity a virtue to be popularly emulated. Elsewhere, country clubs will wish them joy of the experiment and propose their good health in tall, tinkling tumblers of ice-tempered toxics that tickle the tonsils and harden the arteries.

DEMOCRATIC PROSPERITY.

Campaign orators in the service of the Republican party have not hesitated to claim as an asset of their employer the bountiful harvests that followed Republican success. They have threatened the farmer with dearth and drouth should the Democrats win control of the national Government. How pleasant then must be the frame of mind with which disciples of Jackson and Jefferson regard the Government crop report issued yesterday. "Bountiful harvest" is too weak a phrase for Democratic spellbinders, who would bring home to farmers the beneficence of the Woodrow Wilson administration.

With spring wheat 35,000,000 bushels ahead of the last year of Taft—with winter wheat 132,000,000 bushels more than in the year when Republican rule ended—with 421,000,000 more bushels of corn than in the year which marked the height of the Roosevelt-Taft feud—the cock of Democracy may crow joyously. In this year of grace we shall not have to import grain from Argentina, but will have a stock so great that it will make the United States the world's storehouse.

In the face of such crops, which exceed enormously last year and the five-year average, not even a psychological business depression can persist. Even as the Pennsylvania Railway saw the star of prosperity rising in the West and revoked its orders for layoffs and retrenchments, so all the forces of industrialism must put off their pessimism and prepare to make money out of the crop conditions.

PRESIDENT PANCHO VILLA?

It begins to look as if nothing but death in battle could prevent the ex-bandit, Francisco Villa, from becoming the next President of the Mexican republic.

The man who always whips his foemen in the field has had his way against his civic chieftain in council at the rear. "First Chief" Carranza's efforts to suppress Villa's too vivid personality have failed. Villa emerges from the Torreon conference in supreme command of the rebel armies with Carranza's pledge to respect his concessions granted to finance the revolution, with permission to issue scrip as need may arise, with his staff intact, and with new proof that he is the idol of the army's leaders as of its rank and file.

When Mexico City falls before the rebel army, its Generals will select a provisional President. The provisional President will call an election to elect a constitutional President. There is every indication today that, despite his disclaimers of ambition in that way, the office will seek the man in the person of Gen. Villa.

They might do worse. Villa is a rude, unlettered genius. But he has exhibited an effective rough-and-ready statesmanship in his management of civil affairs in the states he first conquered, and he has made plain his sincere purpose to get the maximum of direct benefits for the fighting peons with the minimum of permissible regard for the doubtful claims of foreign concessionaires.

This is the significance of the new dramatic turn of the wheel in the land below the Rio Grande.

WILLIAM SCHUYLER.

The late William Schuyler, principal of McKinley High School, was a man of exceptional ability and accomplishments. Primarily a gifted teacher, he combined with broad scholarship unusual talent and taste in music and literature. He made his mark both as a writer and a composer.

Although he proved his mastery of his chosen profession early in his career, full recognition of his gifts came late in life. He was just beginning to prove his value and gather the fruits of his labors as the head of the McKinley High School, when illness interrupted and finally ended his work. His life was devoted to the service of the public schools of his native city.

Mr. Schuyler's culture, keen intelligence, acute critical faculty, cosmopolitan tastes in art and literature, broad, humane sympathies and social graces made him a man of rare quality. Hosts of St. Louisans who knew him professionally or socially will profoundly mourn his death.

COMPULSORY MEDICATION.

A recent editorial in the Post-Dispatch, calling attention to a resolution adopted at the recent convention of the American Medical Association, was returned, marked with the words: "A Lie." The resolution, reported by the Associated Press, was to the effect that it was the opinion of the 3500 members of the convention that "public welfare would be conserved if every man, woman and child were to be subjected to a compulsory examination as to physical fitness once every year."

If the A. M. A. convention has passed no such resolution, there is evidence on all sides that a large number of doctors and hygienic faddists are desirous of fastening upon the people a species of medical tyranny. Dr. Harvey W. Wiley told the Mothers' Club in Washington recently that "the day is coming when every pupil will be forced to undergo a strict medical examination." It has been shown that, in a city of the size of Chicago, this would necessitate the appointment of 300 medical inspectors, at a cost of $360,000 a year.

Compulsory medical examination of all the adult population would be but a step from compulsory medical examination of all school children. One of the advocates of such wholesale compulsory medical examination is Dr. S. S. Goldwater, Commissioner of Health of New York City. It is, of course, urged that such a scheme would protect the people against disease and conduce to longevity.

Health is, of course, priceless. But so is personal liberty. Of the two, the universal verdict of mankind has been that personal liberty is first.

IT IS, ALAS, TOO LATE.

Mr. Kolkschneider's proposal to invalidate the new city charter because "taxpayers must stand the expense of erecting buildings for the amusement of the idle, playgrounds for the children of the idle, and swimming pools for the unemployed," is announced too late.

The time for an objection of that kind to have been filed was when the nomad Indians inhabited this region.

Since that happy day, public opinion, legislators and Aldermen, even the courts, have agreed to proceed upon the assumption that society may equitably tax the successful to provide for the unsuccessful certain ameliorations which are calculated to prevent their miseries from becoming too painfully obvious to the senses of their more fortunate fellow members of the community, and to prevent their becoming menaces to the community's health and safety.

In an ideal world, we should be able to get sewers and drains, parks and playgrounds, paved streets and public schools, light, heat and transportation, without expense to anybody. Nature would supply them. Mr. Kolkschneider is not the only person who sees how the world might be improved, with a few simple changes like these we have suggested.

Still, if nature provided these blessings, without effort or cost on man's part, might not nature also provide running springs of excellent beer, to be enjoyed for the taking? And where, we ask, in that case, would Mr. Kolkschneider "get off at?" Perhaps, after all, it is wise to accept the world as we find it, in each generation, and make the best of it.

ANOTHER MYSTERY.

JUST A MINUTE.

Written for the Post-Dispatch by Clark McAdams.

IN THE OFFING.

Prosperity is coming back—
I saw him yesterday;
His trousers were a little slack,
And he was old and gray.
He'd slept so long in hollow logs
His clothes were mussed and damp,
And it was hard to hold the dogs;
They thought he was a tramp.

Prosperity has roamed the tall
Since Taft was on the job;
His waist at times has been so small
His heart could scarcely throb.
He longs for home, for love and friends,
For fellowship and mirth,
And long has wearied of the ends
And corners of the earth.

WITH THE YOUNG MEN.

The young men had a great day on Wednesday. John Webb, aged 81, of New Albany, Ind., stood on his head on his birthday anniversary to show his grandchildren how much of a kick he had left in him after four-score years. John D. Rockefeller was 75 on the same day, and he played 18 holes of golf. Yesterday was not a cool day, either. Anyone but a very young man in the pink of condition would have risked something standing on his head or playing 18 holes of golf in the summer sun. Not these young chaps, however. They came in as fresh as a pair of daisies.

CHILE.

According to Mr. W. F. Saunders of the Business Men's League, who has just returned from a tour of South America, the best-named country on that continent is Chile. Chile is the coldest place Mr. Saunders knows anything about. The Humboldt Stream, a cold current from the Antarctic Ocean, courses along the west coast of South America, and a tourist from more or less tropical climes can freeze to death down there quicker than a cat can wink it's eye. The same stream makes Peru a very cold country, as well. It is a penetrating cold which comes in from the sea in the form of fog. Mr. Saunders says he was never warm in those countries, nor did he see any other foreigner who looked as if he were comfortable. He was there, to be sure, in the South American winter, but the Humboldt Stream is there the whole year round. St. Louis felt so good when he got home that he sat around on the sunny side of his porch several days to get thawed out. Chile is chilly, and no mistake.

"BE OF GOOD CHEER."

The way is long, and dark, and drear,
And few there be who pass along
Amongst these hills of doubt and fear,
To sing for me, as to the throng,
"Be of good cheer!"

Here in the dark I hear thy voice,
And seem to feel thy friendly hand,
And seem to know thou dost rejoice,
To urge me on by thy command—
"Be of good cheer!"

And though I faint, perhaps, and fall,
And though the night be dense and long,
I shall press on, to conquer all,
In answer to thy earnest song—
"Be of good cheer!"

Despair shall meet me face to face,
And I shall slay him with a smile,
And with his sluggish blood I'll trace
For poets of the afterwhile,
"Be of good cheer!"

And it shall be that I, in turn,
Shall lift thee up, when strength is gone,
As some frail flower or stricken fern,
And bear thee to the soul's white dawn—
"Be of good cheer!"

CLYDE ADDISON WRIGHT.

Cautious Japs.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

A correspondent of the New York Herald cables from Tokio that while the Japanese feel bitterly the attitude of California, they intend carefully to avoid "the barbarity of an appeal to arms." The relative financial strength of the two countries is such that "indiscretion" would be better than "barbarity."

MR. ROCKEFELLER CELEBRATED HIS 75TH BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY YESTERDAY BY PLAYING EIGHTEEN HOLES OF GOLF.—NEWS

AND NOW COMES ST. LOUIS!

From the Washington Times.

St. Louis is the latest city to join the rapidly growing group of "modern charter" municipalities—and St. Louis by the way, is the fourth largest town in the United States. By a vote of 46,839 to 44,158 the people, on June 30, threw off their antiquated shackles and adopted a new charter which travels as far toward the commission-manager plan as the Constitution of Missouri will at present permit.

The old double-chambered City Council is abolished and a one-house legislative body substituted, elected at large, but nominated by wards—another double twist to get around the 1875 Constitution. The short ballot principle is followed. Endless quantities of red tape, checks and balances, and complicated machinery, behind which responsibility-dodging officialdom has so long hid, goes to the scrap pile.

The city gains the absolute right to municipal ownership of public utilities of any kind whatsoever; the establishment of an efficiency board for city employes; a department of public welfare with broad powers; and the initiative, referendum and recall in easily workable forms which will both place city officials on good behavior all the time and put the voters in supreme control of their affairs.

The fight was bitter, as may be judged from the narrow majority. The usual "machine," public utility and other "interests" had the aid of an ultra radical group who opposed the charter because of some minor features not to their liking. But the tremendous change in public sentiment which reflects a like change in progress throughout the nation, is shown by the fact that four years ago only a more conservative charter than this one was defeated by 40,000 majority.

The progressive element in St. Louis—which includes all parties—see in the new charter an end to the "invisible government," the reign of the city hall spoilsmen, the despotism of the public utility corporations, the exit of the franchise grabbers, the destruction of the "machine"—in short, a New St. Louis. So may it be provided the people of St. Louis realize that it takes live citizens to achieve results and that the most perfect charter in existence will not automatically hand down to them good government.

NOT A MAN IN SIGHT.

From the New York Times.

With the election of 1912 nearly two years in the rear, the Republican party is still without a man. The names of Borah, Hadley, Cummins and La Follette have struck no fire. None of them stand out from the others as, for instance, Mr. Whitman at present seems to from the other candidates for Governor in this State. Nobody concentrates in himself the things the party stands for or appeals to the Republican imagination. Nobody looks like Moses. There is no discussion of the nomination, as there usually is at about this distance of time from the year in which it is to be made—except when the possibility of nominating Roosevelt himself as the candidate of both Republicans and Progressives is mentioned. If such a union should prove practicable, the little booms of Borah and the rest would wither. If it does not, the Republican party will continue to drift along with a job lot of uninspiring candidates still hunting for a man, unless the election of 1914 should produce a man for it.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES.

ABOUT SHAVING.

BARTON.—Whichever kind of razor you use, you should be careful always to shave with the run of the beard. Never shave against the grain. It is bad for the skin, the beard and the razor. A safety razor should be pressed flat against the face, and the action of a scythe should be imitated. That is to say, instead of running the razor straight down the face, use a semi-circular motion. Perhaps the most important part of a shave is the lathering. The more the beard is lathered the softer it will become. It is poor economy to scamp this part of the performance in order to save time or trouble. An ordinary razor should always be stropped before and after shaving. The soap should be thoroughly taken up in it by hot water. A razor is all the better for a rest occasionally. The best strop should hang from a peg not higher than the waist-line. Shaving and the care of a razor, is a science, and the man who can keep his razor in good condition is a man to be envied, especially in the winter. We find these statements: Keep a bottle of vaseline with your shaving set. Apply a very little to the face before lathering. You will get a nice lather, and it will require no rubbing in. You will be pleased to find how "light" your hand feels and how much better your face feels when you have finished. A soothing lotion to use after shaving consists of equal parts of bayrum, glycerin and cold water. Zaccheus Adams of Indiana has shaved himself twice a week for 14 years, but never owned a shaving mug, a razor strop or a hone. It is Adams' boast that he keeps his razor, twice as big as a common razor, in the finest trim with the least trouble of any man in the county. He wears old-style high-topped leather boots. When ready to shave, Adams puts on his boots and then smacks the razor blade back and forth along the leather leg of the boot one for a minute or two. His next operation is to moisten his face with hot water—no perfumed soap for him—and then he just shaves. Adams was never shaved except by his own hand. Barbers and all the perfumes and the paraphernalia of their trade provoke him to scornful snorting. The average man who shaves himself never learns to shave properly, although he practices it for years. In the first place, he wields the blade so slowly that three-fourths of the effect of the stropping is lost because of lack of momentum, and in the second place he usually turns the razor edge face down, thereby either cutting an ugly gash in the strop or ruining the edge of the blade. (In New York is mentioned a pasta that will take the hair off the face as well as any razor, thus putting all sorts of razors out of business.)

HEALTH HINTS.

J. G. M.—"We know no more about rheumatism today than the physicians of the Middle Ages knew," said one of the most eminent physicians of New York a few weeks ago. Many theories about rheumatism have been advanced. It has generally been described as due to uric acid in the blood, the pain in the joints being caused by minute crystals of the acid forming in the tissues. But some physicians ridicule the uric acid theory. An eminent professor at Johns Hopkins advanced the theory a few years ago that rheumatism had its origin in the tonsils; that tonsilitis and rheumatism went so generally together that it was impossible not to see both cause and effect. The removal of tonsils was advocated as the cure for rheumatism. This worked well in some cases, but not in all. Then it was suggested that not tonsilitis alone, but any gathering of pus at any place in the body whence it could not escape—as an ulcer at the root of a tooth, for example—was the cause. This has recently been one of the most generally accepted theories. Cures have been sought various ways. One meets men constantly who have tried every course of treatment without relief. One meets men, who, after trying many treatments for many years, have suddenly found themselves free from pain, seemingly cured, and yet unable to trace their cure to any remedy. Dr. Rosenow is quoted as saying that the germs of rheumatism enter the system through the tonsils. Those strange glands at the back of the throat have some use in the life of the body, but what this use is has not yet been discovered. It is definitely known that they are peculiarly susceptible to infection. Some surgeons have insisted upon extirpating the tonsils. But the operation is a dangerous one, owing to the liability of severe hemorrhage and to the difficulty of preventing infection of the wound. (Address "Circulation Department" for papers.)

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

WARREN.—To shrink linen, try steaming in cold water several hours, then dry slowly in the shade. (Short-Story Pub. Co., Chicago.)

J. G. — Wall paper paste (paper hanger's recipe): Beat up four pounds good white flour (previously sifted) in sufficient cold water to make a stiff batter. Beat well to take out all lumps and add enough water to make the mixture of consistency of pudding batter. To this add two ounces powdered alum. Pour gently and quickly boiling water over the batter, stirring rapidly at the same time. When it loses the white color of the flour, it is cooked. Do not use until it cools. Pour pint cold water over top to prevent scum forming. Before using, thin by addition of cold water.

MRS. GERM-PROOF. — Deodorizers and disinfectants: Put some freshly ground coffee into a saucer and in the center place a small piece of camphor gum. Light it with a match. As the gum burns allow sufficient coffee to consume with it. The perfume is very pleasant and healthful. It is far superior to pastilles and much cheaper. Powdered charcoal is another good disinfectant. It is prompt in absorbing effluvia and gaseous bodies and renders harmless and even useful those bodies which are easily changed. A third is common copperas, called sulphate of iron, which in its crude state is quite cheap. It should be dissolved in water in proportion of one pound of copperas to two gallons of water and thrown over ill-smelling places. It is one of the simplest and most convenient deodorizers and is applicable to sinks and gutters. Dr. H. Wells recommended carbolic acid as the best disinfectant. A medical journal says: "The best natural disinfectant, sunshine; best germ disinfectant, formaldehyde; best physical disinfectant, soap; best moral disinfectant, publicity."

Charles I. Taylor Removes Offices to Chemical Building; Discontinues Use of Firm Name, Taylor & Evans.

Charles I. Taylor, advertising counselor, removed yesterday to suite 1612-1613 Chemical Building. For the past six years his offices have been in the Century Building, where for a greater part of the time he has done business under the firm name of Taylor & Evans.

In removing to the new offices Mr. Taylor announces that the firm name of Taylor & Evans will be superseded by his individual name. He states that this change has been determined upon for the reason that Mr. Evans has not been identified with the office for some time—his interest having been purchased by Mr. Taylor in February, 1913.

Mr. Taylor has been responsible for the advertising success of a number of local and out-of-town concerns and his work has been very favorably commented upon because of its distinctive character. Many hundred columns of advertising appearing in the Post-Dispatch in recent years have been written by Mr. Taylor, who also handles a number of engineering, chemical and other technical lines of advertising for which his training and experience especially qualify him.

BODY OF DOG WHICH BIT BOY IS EXAMINED

Physicians are awaiting a report from the City Bacteriologist on an examination of a dog which bit and seriously injured 3-year-old David Waldron of 1921 Coleman street Monday evening, before deciding whether to give the child Pasteur treatment.

The dog, a large shepherd, attacked the child who, with several other children, were climbing over it and playing with it as it lay in the gutter. The animal suddenly turned on the boy and sank his teeth in the child's face, tearing the skin on the left side of the face and neck and lacerating the child's eye.

The children screamed and men in the neighborhood drove off the dog, but could not kill him. The next morning the dog was found dead in an alley nearby. Persons in the neighborhood said they did not know whether he had died from disease or had been killed. Three physicians called to treat the child cauterized the wounds.

Penitential Piggy

A Domestic Tale With an Excellent Moral.

By Bertha Currier Porter

THE last, sharp quarrel had been the proverbial straw, Mr. Brown representing the camel. Not that he resembled that long-suffering animal in any physical attributes. He was short, stout, and exceedingly well fed. But he was much inclined to ruminative happiness and the almost constant bickerings in his family distressed him much.

In this last battle royal Mrs. Brown, Miss Brown, Master Brown, the Brown servant, and even the Brown baby had borne each a noble part. Mr. Brown, the non-combatant, wore scars, though they were all in the rear. He had fled as soon as possible, wisely silent, but with a bright idea flickering in his brain.

On the way home from his office he visited the five-cent store and emerged bearing under his arm a fat and untidy bundle.

While the aggressive Brown family gathered round their festive dinner table great was the commotion. Mrs. Brown's fern dish reposed on the floor in a corner, and in its place stood a placid and plethoric pig. Of heavy earthenware he was, mottled yellow and brown; his feet resembled those of a well-nurtured elephant and his snout matched his feet. Midway down his spine yawned invitingly a generous slit.

When there was a sufficient lull in the conversation to allow of his being heard, Mr. Brown spoke gently:

"Yes, it is a pig. He came from the five-cent store. He cost ten cents. He is ours. There is going to be a new rule in the family. Whenever there is any disturbance here like the one this morning, each and all persons taking part in it are to put their smallest piece of change, whatever it may be, in the slit in his back. When he is full we will break him and count the money. I will add the same amount, and we will spend it on some jollification for all of us. This includes Delia," he added, remembering certain sounds of strife that often floated out from the kitchen.

The hubbub broke forth anew.

Johnny jingled the pig gleefully for the next few days, as he grew heavier and heavier. But when he himself was caught, and his only piece of money was his week's allowance of a quarter, it wasn't nearly so funny. He raged as he dropped it into the yawning slit, but he raged inwardly.

Mrs. Brown felt much the same when her patience giving out, she had a good, old-fashioned tantrum and then found her pocketbook contained nothing but a silver dollar.

"That certainly won't go in," she thought hopefully, but the gaping orifice swallowed it greedily.

At first the pig fared well; then the supply grew scarcer and Mr. Brown was happy in the unaccustomed atmosphere of peace and calm which hovered over his household. Occasional spasms, however, had their inevitable results, and at last the pig was full. Not even another penny could be crammed among his vertebrae.

One Saturday afternoon the family assembled in solemn conclave. The penitential pig was about to be sacrificed.

"We'll go up into the library," said Mr. Brown, "and take a vote and decide."

"Pig," shouted Johnny as he clambered up the stairs bearing the still solid and unsuspecting pig, "can I get his stummick?"

They gathered in the library, the pig was placed on a small table against an open window, and the family, including Delia, seated themselves. The Brown baby looked about the room unnoticed. Below in the street a hand-organ man ground out wheezy tunes. His monkey crouched on his shoulder.

"Now, what shall we do with it?" asked Mr. Brown, beaming. "There must be quite a little here. Speak up, everybody!"

"Buy a automobile," piped Johnny, "an' I can run it."

"We really need some new curtains for the parlor," mused Mrs. Brown, "and we'd all have the good of them."

"Why can't we divide it up and each buy what we want to?" inquired Miss Brown, with visions of a lace waist floating through her mind.

The hand-organ man struggled bravely with the latest addition to his repertoire. The monkey ran up the spout and perched on the window-sill, but nobody noticed him except the Brown baby.

"I have been thinking," said Mr. Brown. "I have given this matter serious consideration, and what do you say to this plan? Suppose we partially adopt Johnny's suggestion and hire an auto for a day. We will go somewhere up the river on a picnic; we can either take our lunch or buy it."

The chorus of acclamation which followed this suggestion, mingling with the strains of "Oh, Dear, What Can the Matter Be?" from the persistent hand-organ, completely drowned a terrific crash on the sidewalk.

"Well, then, we will adopt that plan," said Mr. Brown. "Johnny, you may now 'bust his stummick.'"

Johnny with a delighted whoop made for the table where had reposed the sacrifice. He stopped midway and the look of dismay on his face was reflected on the countenances of the whole family.

"Why, where is——"

"Where can he be?"

"Where is the pig?"

There was a slight diversion while Mrs. Brown hauled the Brown baby back from a perilous position on the window-sill, where he hung, gazing blissfully at something below. As she leaned out to grasp him she saw some[illegible] on the sidewalk. Her scream [illegible] the others to the window. [illegible] the pavement lay the fragments of the penitential pig—sacrificed at that moment the projected picnic vanished into thin air. Japanese Girl, St. Louis Graduate, Plans Emancipation of Women in Her Country

Dainty Little Miss Nabe Amagasu, Now Completing a Course in Missionary Work at Vassar, Tells Marguerite Martyn Her Ideas on Love, With the Especial Emphasis That American Girls Are Much Too Demonstrative in Their Affections.

By MARGUERITE MARTYN.

A YOUNG woman with a problem and purpose in life out of all proportion to her dainty and diminutive outward personality, is Miss Nabe Amagasu of Japan.

Her purpose is to return to her native land as a sort of Jane Addams, Ida Tarbell, Florence Kelly and Frances Willard rolled into one.

It is a large project she has mapped out, but few women go to a task better prepared.

She is a graduate of Forest Park University, spent one year at Dana Hall, Wellesley, three at Vassar College, and expects to be graduated there next year. Then she will go for a course at Dr. White's Bible School, New York.

In her studies she has paid particular attention to sociology. She says a virgin field, at a very critical and receptive period, awaits her in Japan.

"My country is passing through a crisis now, changing from the old era to the new," said Miss Amagasu, "and as is usual at such periods of a country's history, is leaping from one extreme to another.

"The people led and encouraged by the modern tendencies of the Emperor cannot find any modernism too modern for them. They are greedy for all reforms.

"The reason there have been no women doing modern sociological work is that few have the advantage of thorough American education.

"I thought when I came here that to learn the language and to study a little music would be enough to make me like American women.

Goes Home Within 2 Years.

"IN my country, my people, especially my father's people who do not profess Christianity, although my mother does—thought I was taking an awful departure in coming to America. Such a waste of time and money to educate a girl, they said. The longer I stayed the more interested I became in the study of social and industrial conditions. In two years I shall return to Japan to work for the exposure of unfair industrial conditions there; to work for industrial reforms, especially child labor laws, and reasonable working hours for women, to teach the people about sanitation, to make them desire cleanliness, which is something different from forcing them to accept the new measures and means of sanitation.

"And then, I want to preach temperance, for, contrary to popular belief, founded maybe, on the regulations only in the army where smoking and drinking are forbidden, the Japanese are a most intemperate people.

"These are just some of the things I want to do when I return home," she added very gravely.

If zeal, enthusiasm, quick, bright, responsive earnestness were all, little Miss Amagasu's task were already accomplished.

You forget her small stature and the impression of dainty femininity as you gaze into her sober face, made to seem inordinately large because of large spectacles, and the wide frame of fine, fluffy, dark hair that surrounds it.

"My father was long a Government official at the head of the industrial department of our State," said she, "and I hope that will make it easier for me to get the passes to investigate the factories.

"Yes, indeed, we have all kinds factories, since the introduction of machinery in Japan. The rich have every facility for getting richer, but nobody looks after the interests of the laboring classes.

Miss Amagasu is but 25 years old. She is staying with her good friend, Dr Mary McLean, 4339 Delmar boulevard, as she has every summer since coming to America.

Now Lecturing at Y. W. C. A.

WITH this visit she is giving at Young Women's Christian Association, on their roof garden, Thursday evenings, a series of five lectures such as she gave also at Vassar. The first occurred last Thursday and in those to follow she will tell of life in Japan in four of its phases, namely, the domestic, the social, the industrial and the religious life of the people. She speaks English with the quaintest of accents and such extensive vocabulary that even slang phrases creep in.

However well Americanized is Miss Amagasu there remain a few of our customs which, I gathered, she will not introduce to Japan.

"Did you find life at Vassar congenial?" I asked.

"Oh, yes, much fun," she reflected gushingly as any college girl. "I took part in games and all good times except talk about boys and beaux."

"Do Japanese girls never do that?"

"Not nice ones," she said with a well affected note of scorn. "Japanese women are quite indifferent about those things. You see we have different ideals. We are hero worshipers, but with us heroes are not men who are loyal to women. The qualities we like in our heroes are patriotism, self- sacrifice and bravery. And likewise the women are admired only for their virtue All our literature will show you that.

"We have no sex novels and no love stories would ever be popular in Japan. Japanese do not believe in showing their affection.

"And husbands," she added, "I do not believe we would ever marry if husbands were not selected for us by our parents or friends. Always before women have accepted and obeyed that custom as a matter of course. Lately though, I hear there is much discontent and women rebel at having husbands selected for them."

Fears Woman's Independence.

"WITH the complete independence of our women I do not know what will become of Japan." She sighed and made a gesture of despair.

"You say Japanese women are not affectionate, but surely the mother's love for her child"——I began.

"Of course mother's heart is the same everywhere. But Japanese mothers do not coddle their children. Since I was a little baby I never sit nearer to my mother than 10 feet away."

"And are American children an improvement on the Japanese?"

"American children very smart, but"——and then because she is so very polite she hesitated, twisted her fingers together nervously, with eyes cast down and replied as if apologizing for something, "I think American children are rather spoiled. And although they are precocious, they seem to be no brighter for it when they are grown."

I noticed that she has adopted American dress—she was quite stylish; in fact, in white skirt and shirtwaist and wide pink belt.

"I think the American costume is more comfortable to work in. It has not the long, flowing sleeve and does not bind at the knees, but our kimona is more graceful.

"My country women would be much shocked at some of the costumes one sees here."

I called attention to the fact that many of the objectionable features of our present fashions, the tight skirt, flowing sleeves, split skirt our collarless, corsetless and petticoatlessness were originally adapted from the Japanese lady's costume.

"Ah, but Japanese woman is most modest always," she said.

From which we may conclude that modesty in Japan, as elsewhere, is not so much a matter of dress as a state of mind.

Practical Prescription Against Stomach Acidity

Nine-tenths of all cases of stomach trouble nowadays are caused by too much acid. In the beginning the stomach itself is not diseased, but if this acid condition is allowed to continue, the acid is very likely to eat into the stomach walls and produce stomach ulcers, which may render a radical surgical operation necessary even to prolong life. Therefore, an "acid stomach" is really a dangerous condition and should be treated seriously. It is utterly useless to take pepsin and ordinary stomach tablets. The excess acid or stomach hyperacidity must be neutralized by the administration of an efficient antacid. For this purpose the best remedy is bisurated magnesia taken in teaspoonful doses in a fourth of a glass of water after each meal. Larger quantities may be used if necessary, as it is absolutely harmless. Be sure to ask for the bisurated magnesia, as other forms of magnesia make effective mouth washes, but they have not the same action on the stomach as the bisurated. You can get Bisurated Magnesia at Weipert Drug Co., Judge & Dolph Drug Co. 3 stores, Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., Johnson Bros.—ADV.

CHAPTERS FROM A WOMAN'S LIFE

By Dale Drummond.

CHAPTER XLVII.

GERTIE CUMMINGS came in after Jack had gone to bed. She played with the baby for a few minutes—her coming in had awakened him—then, when I had laid him back in his crib, she exclaimed:

"Oh, Sue, such a time!"

"You mean about your losing the money in the broker's office?" I asked.

"Yes," bitterly. "It has taught me a lesson, I can tell you! I pawned my lavalliere to pay back what I borrowed to buy that horrid stock with, and heaven knows when I shall be able to get it out! That's what I came up to see you about! If Clifton mentions it, may I tell him I have loaned it to you?"

"All right, say anything you please," I returned, "but don't say it before Jack. He hates me to borrow or wear other women's jewelry. He almost took my head off the time I wore your lavalliere to the Somers dinner." And I wondered what he would say of the picture painted in the borrowed pearls.

"I'll be careful not to get you into trouble, but I will have to tell him something. If Clifton ever found out that I have lost borrowed money in the stock market he would stop at nothing, he would be so angry," she rejoined.

"What ails the men?" I grumbled. "Jack thought George Landon was justified in what he did, and now you say that if Clifton knew what you had done he might do the same!"

"Oh, I don't know! When Clifton feels grumpy he says: 'All the trouble men have have is due to women's extravagance.' But I must go. I just had to come up and tell you," she apologized.

The next day we went down to Highland Terrace. After going all around again, this time by ourselves, Jack consented to do as I urged him to and buy the lot adjoining the Eberhardts. I was delighted. Never caring that we had paid over twice as much as we had planned. The agent let us have it for the three thousand he had said we could, although originally he had asked thirty-five hundred.

"Now for the house!" Jack exclaimed as soon as we left the Terrace. "I must get the man right to work. And Sue, don't expect to see much of me while it is building; I'm going to see that the work is done right," knowing, in reality, as much whether it were being done right or wrong as did Jack Jr.

The contractors were engaged, and "Jack's house," as we called it, was begun. The house was to cost, finished, not more than $4500 (so Jack said). Of course, this was more than we had, after paying for our lot. But I pointed out to Jack that we would probably get another "tip" soon, and even if we didn't, we would be safe, as we could pay what we could, and the rest as we were able. Meaning all the time to persist in urging him to allow Ned Somers to carry a thousand shares of stock for us, and so enable us to have what we wanted.

When figuring on the house I had, as usual, forgotten to deduct anything for the bills I had run since we had begun speculating.

Jack had adhered to his determination not to employ an architect, and was consequently very busy. The carpenters, the plumbers, the painters, one and all were constantly wishing to consult him, suggesting changes (to which Jack would not listen), claiming they were not supposed to do this or that because it was not shown in the plans. The result was, as Jack had foretold, I saw very little of him.

Harry Eberhardt had introduced Jack at the club, and occasionally he would remain all night, always telephoning to find out if the babies and I were all right. He did not look at all well, and was growing more fretful and nervous each day, so I said nothing when he didn't come home, thinking the change would do him good. He now played golf a little, and that gave him the outdoor exercise he so needed, yet he grew thinner and thinner, and the worried, harassed expression scarcely left his face, even when he was romping with the children.

About a week after we had bought the lot Jack came home and told me he had bought 50 shares of L. M. N. Senator Crispen had told him to.

"Why didn't you buy a hundred?" I asked.

"Always greedy, aren't you, Sue? I had a very good reason for not buying a hundred. We have a comparatively small deposit since we paid for the lot, and if I had bought as much as we did before you drew out the $3000, it would have occasioned comment. And that is the last thing I want," grimly.

"Always afraid!" I complained.

"Oh, if it starts up I'll buy another fifty!" he replied. "I wish I could make enough legitimately to satisfy you, Sue. I'm sure to be caught some time, and what can I say to Mr. Flam?" moodily.

"Mr. Flam is an obsession with you," I returned. "I'd like to see myself letting any outsider rule my life as he does yours."

"He doesn't rule my life, Sue, as you know. If he did I should be a better man."

We said nothing more and Jack did not refer to Mr. Flam again for some time. The stock he had bought did very well. He pyramided, as he said he would, and we made about $1200. We now had—I thought—about $4000 again on deposit with Flam & Co., besides owning our lot. Again I began to feel that I might spend a little money, and, as usually was the case, I did not hesitate to do so.

The only thing that worried me besides Jack's health was the way Mildred Somers acted. Yet I could not explain why I felt as I did. She seemed all kindness, but somehow I was uneasy, uncomfortable, when with her.

Jack, Kate and the Fairy

Sandman Story of a Little Boy and a Girl Who Decide to Run Away From a Cruel Uncle and Aunt.

By Mrs. F. A. Walker.

PART I.

KATE and Jack were orphans. Their father and mother died when they were very small and went to live with an uncle who was married to a woman who did not like children.

"You cannot earn your salt," she told them one morning, "and if I had my way I would soon be rid of you."

Jack lay awake that night wondering what would become of them, when suddenly he heard the boards creak as though someone was walking toward his room.

He closed his eyes and pretended he was asleep, but he could see just the least bit, and soon the door was opened and his aunt and uncle came in with a candle and came toward the bed.

"They are not worth their salt," he heard his aunt say again, "and if you do not take them out and lose them tomorrow I will."

The uncle said he would take them away the next morning, and they went out and closed the door.

Jack did not sleep much that night, and as soon as Kate was awake in the morning they dressed and went to the spring for water.

Jack had not told his sister what he heard the night before, and he was wondering what his uncle intended to do with them, when he heard a voice say, "Take the first gate through the wood and do not look behind you."

Jack and Kate dropped the pail and looked about. There was no one in sight, and Jack said it must have been the wind they heard.

They picked up the pail and were dipping it into the spring when they saw on the top of the water a tiny creature who seemed to fly over the surface, instead of walking on her two tiny feet.

"If you wish to escape from your cruel uncle and aunt, take the first path through the woods and do not look behind you," said the little creature.

"Are you a fairy?" asked Kate, clinging close to her brother.

"Are you a fairy?" asked Jack, in a trembling voice, and his eyes grew big with wonder.

"Yes, I am your good fairy for today," said the little creature, "and if you will to be happy, do as I tell you."

"Come," said Jack to Kate, "we will do as the fairy says. I have heard that are very kind to poor orphans like us."

"I am so hungry," said Kate. "Let us go to the house and get our breakfast first."

"I think we better go at once," said Jack, thinking of what he had heard the night before. "We can eat berries and then we will find another fairy who will give us breakfast. They can do anything, I have heard."

"I am very hungry," said Kate, following her brother to the woods and along the first path they came to.

"I have been in these woods before," said Jack, "but I never saw that path with flowers growing on both sides before. I think it will be all right to walk along, as the path, the fairy told us to take, seems to end here."

Kate forgot her hunger when she saw the pretty flowers, and she ran ahead and began to pick them, when suddenly she gave a little cry of delight and Jack ran to see what she had found.

On a bush of pink flowers there was a basket hanging covered with a white napkin, and when the children uncovered it, they found their breakfast.

"We will keep on this path," said Jack, "I am sure it must lead to something nice; it is so beautiful."

The children ate so much breakfast they fell asleep, and tomorrow I will tell you what happened when they awoke.

Thin Folks Who Would Be Fat

Increase in Weight Ten Pounds or More

A Physician's Advice

"I'd certainly give most anything to be able to fat up a few pounds and stay that way," declares every excessively thin man or woman. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. Thin people are victims of mal-nutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, all the fat and flesh producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy, normal amount of fat, the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can best be accomplished by eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a scientific combination of six of the best strength-giving, fat-producing elements known to the medical profession. Taken with meals, it mixes with the food and turns the sugars and starches into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood, and its rapid effect is remarkable. Reported gains of from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by the Judge & Dolph, Weipert Drug Co., Raboteau, Wolff-Wilson Co., Johnson Bros. and other good druggists everywhere, and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

Caution—While Sargol has produced remarkable results in the treatment of nervous indigestion and general stomach disorders, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-producing effect, be used by those who are not willing to increase their weight ten pounds or more. —ADV.

BROWNS' SCOUTING BUREAU FAILS TO BID FOR ORIOLES

Cree, Derrick and Twombley Did Not Measure Up to Rickey's Standard.

WALKER SHINES AGAIN

Injured Outfielder Celebrates Return to Game by Driving In Two Runs.

By Clarence F. Lloyd,
Of the Post-Dispatch Sporting Staff.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The Browns have not been mentioned as bidders in the deals for any of the high-priced minor league ball players to date, but that doesn't mean that Messrs. Hedges and Rickey are not sleeping with one eye open in an effort to pick up desirable talent in the bushes. The reported sale of three of the Baltimore (International League) players to the Cincinnati and New York (American) clubs for fabulous prices, had no mention of the Browns being in as bidders for the men.

"We didn't desire the men on the Baltimore Club," said Manager Rickey, this morning, when asked why he hadn't made an effort to procure any of the Orioles. "You can say that the St. Louis Club will not be outbid by any club in the business if a player is put on the market whom we desire. Our scouts looked over Cree, Twombley and Derrick, the Baltimore players, and reported that they were not adapted for our club. That's the reason we made no effort to procure them."

Rickey and his scouting bureau have a smoothly working agreement. The bidding time for players seems to have started and it would not be surprising if the Browns land some of the talent. But whatever comes to St. Louis will be what Rickey terms a "first division" ball player. He wants no athletes who, in 1915 and 1916 will keep the Browns in fifth, sixth, seventh or eighth place.

Browns Show Improvement.

The Browns looked an entirely different ball club in the second game with the Nationals here, yesterday. They uncorked the best hitting streak they have shown on the current trip and landed a 6 to 5 victory.

The club got off to an early 5-run lead, but another of the breaks that has upset the gravy so many times lately, threatened to again bring disaster. This time, Dan Moeller stuck his head in the way of a throw from Johnny Lavan at stortstop and netted the Nationals four runs in one inning. That put the aliens within striking distance of what had seemed a safe lead for George Baumgardner.

Moeller, today, is nursing a severe headache, because of the jolt he received. But, he was almost well repaid for the knock. He nearly won the ball game for his team. It was like this: Starting the Nationals' eighth, the Browns were galloping in front, 6—1. Then Baum lost control and passed Williams. Hermen Schaefer, batting for Harper, the third of the four pitchers used by Griffith, singled. So did Moeller, filling the bases.

Foster then obligingly hit a roller to Pratt, whose pass to Lavan forced Moeller at second easily. The double play was on and would have been completed easily, but Moeller fixed his head in a line with the ball. The sphere shot high in the air and missed bounding into the pavilion by a few feet. The collision of head and ball netted the Nationals two runs, and put Foster, the batter, on second. He scored from there on Clyde Milan's second triple of the game. The fourth run came a minute later on an infield demise.

Walker Himself Again.

With Clarence Walker and Jimmy Austin back in the lineup, the Browns played a neater game. Incidentally, Walker again proved that Griff made one of his greatest mistakes by letting "Tillie" get away from his team. He nicked a double in the very first inning, which scored two runs. Clarence tallied the third marker of the period on Leary's single.

Old Doc Mitchell again shone in his specialty of game saver. He came on the scene after Milan's triple had driven in the Nationals' third run in the eighth. Only one was out at the time. Mitch forced Gandil to roll to Lavan, who played it safe by getting the batter and letting Milan tally. Johnny also tossed out Shanks for the third out of the round.

Umpire Egan gave the Nationals an excellent chance to tie it up in the ninth, when he called Morgan, the first batter, safe, when Leary dropped Lavan's throw. Jack dropped the ball all right, but had picked it up before the batter reached the bag. It threw a scare into the Browns. McBride laid down a sacrifice and Morgan moved to third, when Lavan tossed out Alvah Williams. Then our old friend Wallie Smith was sent up to bat for Pitcher Bentley. "Hippo" obligingly struck out and ended the game.

Clarence Walker will be in the lineup today, but Jim Austin's presence is not assured. Jim is still complaining of his spiked heel. Austin also has had a badly strained side and has been playing on his nerve. When it seemed that the game was sewed up yesterday, Rickey chased Austin out of the lineup. He also yanked Clarence Walker to let his ankle rest.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Playing It Safe.

WILLIE RITCHIE is a cautious gentleman. Recent developments in the line of Willie's profession of fighting indicate he has the same dare-devil, take-a-chance spirit as the poker player who "calls," with a royal flush in his hand.

Willie believes in cinches. He doesn't merely play it safe; he makes assurance doubly sure, like the gentleman who, to cinch the successful passing in of his checks, stood on the edge of a chair with a rope, attached to the ceiling, looped around his neck, drank a bottle of carbolic acid and then shot himself.

* * *

Now for the Return Match.

WILLIE prepared some such certainty for himself when he fought Freddie Welsh for the title. It now develops that Ritchie, when he signed articles to fight Welsh in London, was far from being the dupe of the now world's champion. For in the articles of agreement was a clause stipulating that Welsh would fight a return engagement in this country later in the year!

This thoughtfulness on Ritchie's part insures not only a chance to redeem himself and win the title, but an opportunity to land another and even larger slice of coin than was divided in London.

Then there may be a codicil to this little testament, not written, but still there, providing that if Ritchie wins the return match, a third and decisive bout shall be fought in some neutral and profitable territory—say Australia.

* * *

Soft Pedal on White.

INCIDENTALLY the return engagement between Ritchie and Welsh temporarily nips in the bud the hopes of several aspiring lightweights, among them Charles White. White and Welsh have been offered a $25,000 purse by a Denver promoter. It will probably have to be passed up, unless Welsh wants to take a big chance on losing and ruining the drawing power of his return engagement with Ritchie.

White's defeat of Ritchie in Chicago, when he damaged the champion far more in 10 rounds than Welsh did in 20, makes him a logical candidate for an engagement with the world's title-holder.

However, it looks like the order of succession in the matter of championship fights will be:

Ritchie vs. Welsh.
The loser vs. Charley White.
Charley White vs. Champion, should the former win the above bout.

* * *

A Little Gravy on the Side.

IN the meantime there's no limit to the 10-round, $10,000-a-side guarantee bouts which Welsh, Ritchie and White might take part in.

Say, it's a bum life, this being a near-champion. When you can exchange a possible punch in the proboscis for $25,000 it's some financing, eh, bo? When you can come through 20 rounds, or one hour of work, with never a scratch and not breathing hard, yet with enough gasoline for the giddap wagon to last as long as you live, it makes Rockefeller's financing seem a bit archaic.

* * *

Oi Yoi! Some Lucky Breaks!

ORGANIZED baseball is wearing an expansive smile these days. Having won the championship at court baseball from the Federals, it is now making the opposition take furtive looks at its bank roll every now and then to see what the chances appear of holding out for the rest of the season with the original circuit.

Organized baseball has the Federals on the anxious seat partly by virtue of better baseball offered, better accommodations it affords, the world's championship culmination to its season and—here we have an important factor—by virtue of THE EXTRAORDINARY BREAKS IN THE LUCK OF THE PENNANT RACES!

* * *

A Few Examples.

FOR example: The two important points of conflict between the Federal League and Organized Baseball circuits are at St. Louis and Chicago. At St. Louis the Federal Leaguers started out with a rush, as though the pennant race were in. At this time both Organized Baseball clubs here figured to be tail-enders, on the form of last year. Yet out of the ruck with a rush came both St. Louis teams, right in the nick of time, to flirt with the first division. The Cardinals are now third and the Browns only one and one-half games removed from the same position. The Feds slumped and all the patronage quit cold on the new league. It hasn't attracted enough money at the gate here in a month to pay half its operating expenses.

* * *

What Happened at Chicago.

Again, at Chicago: The Cubs were considered a broken machine, at the start of the season, thanks to the loss of Evers and other factors. It was figured that a second division berth was a certainty. The White Sox, blessed with a good pitching staff, also figured a second division club, with at least four teams better.

But here today are both the Chicago teams in second place in their respective races, JUST AS THE CHIFEDS MOVE INTO FIRST PLACE in the Federal league race.

Some lucky break!

To this may be added the minor league fact that the American Association team of Indianapolis came to life with a surprising timeliness this year, just when the Indianapolis Feds seem to have a grand chance for the Fed pennant—and the town's patronage. Last year the Indianapolis team finished last in the association races; it is second at this writing.

* * *

Good Reasons for Reversals.

ALL these conditions have been made possible, the O. B. magnates observe, by conditions over which they had no control. In fact, IT WAS THE FEDERAL LEAGUE THAT CONTRIBUTED TO WEAKENING THE NATIONAL, SO THAT THE RACE WAS MADE AN OPEN ONE!

Accidents to Cleveland, failure of Red Sox hitters to come through, improvement in the Chicago pitching staff, Branch Rickey, the weakening of the Athletics' pitching and other factors are concerned in evening up the American League race, club owners declare.

And all of the explanations seem PERFECTLY TRUE AND SOUND. Baseball is an uncertain game; but its integrity is unimpeachable, history shows.

Terriers With Winning Streak, Play Here Today

Brown's Men Won Five Out of Seven Games on Recent Road Trip.

By winning five out of seven games during their sojourns in Kansas City and Indianapolis, the Terriers picked up a few lengths on Pittsburg and come home today for a series with George Stovall's club, only three games out of seventh place. Good pitching by Groom, Brown and Crandall has been responsible for the improved work of the tail-enders and they hope to regain their stride here before going east for a long trip.

Brown rearranged his line-up and easily defeated the Hoosier entry Wednesday, 6—3. Groom pitched and held the enemy nine hits, widely scattered. McConnaughey, a recruit, worked for Indianapolis and the Terriers nicked into his delivery for 10 hits, one of them a home run by Johnny Tobin.

CENTURY CREWS MAY BE BARRED FROM REGATTA

Central States Oarsmen Insist Club Must Share Deficit or Not Compete.

With but eight rowing clubs nominating oarsmen for the Central States regatta, which is to be held at Baden Saturday and Sunday, that event will have the smallest entry list in its history. Of these eight but two are out-of-town clubs, the South Side and the North Side rowing clubs of Quincy, Ill. The local clubs that are sure to be represented are the Western, Central, Baden, St. Louis, Mound City and North End.

Whether the Century Boat Club will be allowed to compete is still in doubt.

At a meeting of the Central States Association, held last night, the representative of that club stated the Century Club was willing to enter several crews, but that it would not be taxed. There is an agreement among the clubs of the association that if the Baden Rowing Club shows a deficit in financing the races, that each will put in an equal share in order to make the burden less heavy. This the Century Club refused to do and their entry was refused.

It is thought the matter may be patched up before Saturday.

When questioned this morning Oscar E. Buder, an official of the Century Boat Club, said:

"The Century Boat Club has entered in three events of the Central States regatta, the single and double sculls and the half-mile dash for singles. We paid our entry fee, the same as is and has always been required. However, we certainly will not be additionally taxed. I hear that the other clubs came to an agreement to pay from $50 to $100 each, if the Baden club fell behind. They may do that, if they care to. However, it is not compulsory, as there is no mention of it in the by-laws. It seems folly to me to pay that amount when we will have at the most four representatives. A few minutes ago I heard that our entries had not been accepted. If this is the case, I most certainly will recommend to the Board of Governors our withdrawal from the Central States Association."

Seven Events Each Day.

Junior day is held Saturday, while the seniors are scheduled to row Sunday. There are seven events on the program for each day. Both seniors and juniors will compete in the following events:

Singles scull, doubles shell, paired-oared shell, four-oared shell, six-oared barge, eight-oared barge.

The juniors will also compete in a half-mile dash for singles, while the veterans have a half-mile dash for fours. Except the dashes, all events are of a mile and a quarter. Until last night the barge events were a mile and a half, but because of a complaint by the rowers a quarter of a mile was clipped off of the distance.

Because the Southwestern regatta is to be held after the Central States, the Junior entry list took a decided tumble. In some of the events there is but two or three clubs entered. An instance of this is in the double scull. The St. Louis Rowing Club was the only one to enter a pair and in order to make the event a race, the Central decided to enter a make-shift team. The Western Rowing Club did not enter a junior in a single race, despite the fact that it boasts of a number of likely looking youngsters.

Mound City's Big Entry.

The Mound City Club has an excellent entry in both classes and if number counts for anything should make a splendid showing in the regatta. However in size it is closely followed by the Central and St. Louis. The Quincy clubs have not entered a large number of oarsmen, but according to tradition should do something.

Winning places in the events count five, three and one point for the first three to finish. The club gaining the greatest number of points receives a banner, while each winning crew is rewarded with a placque. Oarsmen, in winning crews receive medals. The Baden Club promises that there will be no hitch whatever in the transportation services. The municipal cars will leave for the club every five minutes, while auto trucks will drive the visitors from the end of the car line to the river.

When the races are contested at Baden this week, it will be the first time the eight-year existence of the Central States Association that the regatta has been held in St. Louis. For the past three years the clubs have convened at Peoria, Ill. Previous to that Des Moines and Burlington, Io., were the scenes of the contests.

WADDELL'S CATCHER DIES

PHILADELPHIA, July 9.—Osee Schreckengost, who won fame as the battery partner of Rube Waddell when the latter was the star pitcher of Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics, died in a hospital here today from a complication of diseases.

He was about 40 years old. He was released by the Philadelphia club five years ago and quit the game shortly afterward. Schreckengost outlived his famous partner only a few months.

The Center Fielder said.
"Who pulled the joke, who pulled the joke?"
Said Rooter-on-Parade.
"A slender guy named Willie Doak,"
The Center Fielder said.
"For the Giants went at Willie with intent to do him good;
They thought that he was certainly a tapico pud';
But Willie had their number and they couldn't split the wood,
Now it looks like first division every mornin'."

Back to the Asylum!

As a guy just remarked a minute ago, it's games like that one of yesterday that make Matty wan.

At any rate Matty was "nuts" for the Cardinals.

The "Old Master" just couldn't make his pupils behave. They cut some awful capers behind his back.

Somebody remarked that the Giants and Cards were giving an exhibition of Federal League ball for the benefit of Claude Martin, who was in the stand.

The main grand stand was loaded to the guards. Policeman's Paradise in the annex was well filled, but the bleacherites are still playing hookey.

There was an incident in yesterday's game that goes to show most anything is liable to happen in a ball game. Willie Doak made a hit.

It was a beautiful little T. L., fashioned after the most approved style of Willie Keeler.

After that we wouldn't be a bit surprised to see Lee Magee tear off a single one of these days.

Just to prove that he is human, "Cozy" Dolan dropped a fly. We've seen Ty Cobb do the same thing.

'Twas Ivey.

Who was the nifty batting gink?
I. Wingo!
Who put old Matty on the blink?
I. Wingo!
Who was the guy that tied the score
And from the ball the cover tore
And won a home for ever more?
I. Wingo!

Looks like Chicago has an outside chance to cop three pennants this year.

It wouldn't be contrary to the eternal fitness of things to see the "Packers" canned by the Federal League.

Johnny McGraw kept himself in the cool, sequestered recesses of the rathskeller. Johnny is not a hot weather coacher.

With "Old Master" Sallee looming up in the offing it looks like the worst the Cards can get is an even break.

British Again Defeat Belgians.

FOLKESTONE, England, July 9.—The English team today completed the rout of the Belgians in the preliminary round of the Dwight F. Davis international lawn tennis trophy competition. T. M. Mavrogordato, in the singles, beat A. G. Watson in three straight sets, 6—1, 6—0, 6—3, and J. C. Parke defeated P. de Borman also in three straight sets, 6—4, 6—3, 6—0.

Snodgrass After Doak's Goat.

In the ninth inning of Wednesday's game after Meyers had walked with two out, Doak had some trouble getting the ball over to Murray, swinging for Matty. Snodgrass, coaching at third, yelled to Doak: "Just one more ball and we'll have old Sal in there." Sal was warming up but he wasn't needed. The Giants respect Sal—and Doak, too, for that matter.

Rival Clubs Overlook Fine Chance to Trim the Giants

Team's Work Listless

McGraw Handles His Men From the Bench While They Pull a Prime Brand of Bone Baseball—Outfit With a Punch Could Cinch Flag.

By W. J. O'Connor.

JOHN McGRAW is an actor because he was in vaudeville a year ago and collected $1500 every Sunday evening for 16 consecutive Sundays. Quite naturally John J. aspires to be a great actor. So it's only reasonable that he would steal some big guy's stuff.

Just now John J. has assumed that pathetically interesting attitude which reminds us of David Warfield in the "Music Master," wherein Dave croaked: "If you don't vant her, I vill take her," or words to that effect.

That was a good line and it helped to make Warfield famous. McGraw, too, would like to see his name in incandescents. But Warfield spoke of a girl and McGraw refers directly to "Arabella Cinch," the National League pennant.

If the grand old rag is going to go begging around the National League circuit this season, McGraw will take the little orphan in, but he's going to do so only after a struggle.

The Giants are trying desperately to avoid another championship clash. They are playing the best brand of bone baseball in the League; but try as they may it does seem that the flag will be draped over their manly shoulders next October, for as one New York player remarked after Wednesday's game: "If we don't win it, WHO CAN?"

The League Lacks a Punch.

There's food for thought. Who can win the pennant, if the Giants decline? One might suggest the Cubs, but the thought of Hank O'Day's toothless old spavs winning anything but an argument from Bill Klem, is ludicrous. If there were a society for the "prevention of cruelty to the aged and infirm" they would rule off about five of O'Day's birds and give Young America a chance. However, the Cubs, crutches and all, are up there, only three and one-half games behind the leaders, while the Cards, with a dash of youth, vim, vigor and inexperience are tagging along in third place, six games behind the leaders.

John McGraw didn't go to the coaching line once during Wednesday's game. He manifested little concern, as far as the spectators could see, and his helpers went out and kicked another game into the discard making two straight defeats on the important Western swing.

However, the Giants still are far enough ahead to rest on their oars, especially in view of the fact that Larry Cheney and the Cubs were spanked by the Boston Braves, who are last.

Doak Deserved Shutout.

It is the truth, though, that the Giants seldom play good ball in St. Louis. This probably is their "bad town." They play a loose game and had the Cards not been seized by stage fright in the third frame Wednesday, Willie Doak would have shut out the champions.

Let there be no reflection cast upon Doak's work because of the reference to New York's bad baseball. Doak pitched masterful ball; but his mates made enough errors to let the Giants win and the Giants didn't win because they lacked a punch.

After Dolan made a TWO-BASE MUFF of Matty's liner in the third inning, Bescher followed with a fly to Wilson. Then BECK BOOTED BURNS' GROUNDER into Fairground Park. That put Matty on third. Fletcher singled through a close infield and Matty scored while Burns made third on MAGEE'S POOR PEG. Robertson hit to Doak and Burns was trapped and out, Fletcher stopping at second. Merkle singled to right and when WILSON FUMBLED Fletcher and Robertson scored. Doyle walked, but Stock forced Merkle at third, Doak to Beck.

Had the Giants adopted C. Lincoln Herzog's tactics of "choking a guy to death" they might have whipped home a lot of runs in this inning. BUT McGRAW SAT ON THE BENCH.

He can afford to do that, because as one of his players remarked: "If we don't win the pennant, WHO CAN?"

Matty Has Lost Four Games, Two to Cards

CHRIS MATHEWSON'S record for the current season is 14 games won and four lost. Two of his defeats were suffered at Robison Field, where the Cardinals twice this season beat him by a margin of one run. He whipped Hug's men in New York, 8—5, on the last trip but in four outs against the local entry on the local field, twice this year and twice in 1913, Big Six has been forced to bite the dust.

Willie Doak's victory Wednesday boosts him to second place among the N. L. hurlers. He is topped only by Mathewson, his record being 8—3.

Hub Perdue to Pitch Today.

Manager Huggins made the announcement Thursday morning that Hub Perdue would oppose the Giants in the second game of the series at Robison Field Thursday afternoon. The tip was out that Hub would officiate Wednesday but he didn't. Tesreau is slated to work for the Giants.

New Yorkers Win Whist Trophy.

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., July 9.—The American Whist League's Minneapolis trophy, representing the pair championship of the United States and Canada, was won yesterday by W. B. Gower and L. Parsons of the Knickerbocker Whist Club of New York City.

Giants Assay More Ivory Per Ounce Than Cards, So Doak Beats Big Six

THEY'LL call it a ball game and into the official records it will go as such, but don't let anybody tell you it was a creditable performance for pennant contenders. Indeed it is almost a recognized fact that the better the teams the poorer games they play. Last fall the Browns and Cardinals, playing for the tail-end championship of Christendom, put up far better exhibitions of baseball than the Giants and Athletics, monarchs of the world. The only difference was that a grand stand seat here cost six bits, while the tariff in New York was two bucks. Remember what P. T. Barnum said.

Anyhow, the Cardinals chloroformed the Giants, 4—3, Wednesday in the first of a four-game series, knocking Matty silly in the eighth inning. Doak outpitched Mathewson, five hits to eight. Two of the eight safe slams off Old Ironsides were triples, while two were doubles, making a grand total of 12 bases. Matty issued two walks against Doak's five, while each pitcher cut loose with a wild heave. The Giants made four errors of commission, while the Cards committed three. The mental miscues (i. e., boners) were numerous.

But as ball games go, it was interesting. The home club came through with a rally in the eighth and "old" Ivey Wingo knocked the pins out from under Mathewson with a single that busted up the "old" game, thereby pleasing the populace, who turned out to the number of about 6000, easily the biggest midweek crowd of the season.

The Giants were as punchless as a toothless roue of 92. In the third round the Cardinals were seized with stage fright and wabbled on their pins. Dolan, Beck and Wilson played soccer, but despite three weird miscues, two singles and a walk, the enemy culled only three runs. Shades of Connie Mack!

All the time Willie Doak, with his hair clipped close by the double-o clipper, was in there with a mystifying assortment of damp delivery. After the fourth inning only one single was made and only three men reached first base. Doak had the Champs playing dead.

Matty weakened as the game progressed and the Cards picked up a run here and there, scoring in the third on Butler's triple and Doak's pop single over Fletcher's head. The Giant infield was playing in to cut down a run at the plate.

Wilson's double and Wingo's triple, the latter after two were out, yielded run No. 2, while the big blow-off came in the eighth. One gone in this eventful round, Wilson singled, Fletcher made a championship muff of Beck's pop fly, putting Wilson on second, while Ivey Wingo busted 'er up with a single to right, scoring Wilson and putting Beck on third. Then the squeeze was called. Matty divined the attack and pitched outside and low. Butler missed. Beck was trapped, but Meyers pulled a boner by making a long throw to Stock instead of chasing Beck back to third. Stock retaliated with a high throw to Meyers and Beck slid around the Indian, tagging the plate with his fist for the winning run. Fine baseball!

The Giants made a dying stab in the ninth, when McGraw called out his reserves, Donlin and Murray. Doak sent them back to the stable empty handed. The crowd yip-eeyed and went home.

CHASE'S LAWYERS ATTACK BASEBALL AS BEING "TRUST"

Argument Is Made During Motion to Quash Injunction Restraining Buffalo Star.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 9.—The motion to vacate the injunction obtained against Hal Chase by the Chicago American League baseball club, restraining him from playing with the Buffalo Federal League club was argued before Supreme Court Justice Hebert P. Bissell here today. Chase was not in court.

Keene H. Addington of Chicago, personal counsel for Chase, attacked the so-called "national agreement" under which organized baseball operates. He characterized organized baseball as a combination contrary to common and statute law, in that it constitutes a traffic in players.

"Organized baseball does not come into court with clean hands," he said, and read various clauses of the national agreement in support of his argument.

Cubs' Boss Denies Deal for Derrick; Cincinnati Heads Insist It's Made

CHICAGO, July 9.—"There is absolutely no deal pending or complete by which Chicago will get Claude Derrick," said President Thomas of the National Chicago club today. "A short time ago, President Herrmann of the Cincinnati club asked me over the telephone if we wanted to buy Derrick. I replied that we might consider a trade involving him, and then he suggested that the Cincinnati club would like to get Mollwitz and Williams in exchange for him. I answered that we would think it over and yesterday sent a letter to Mr. Herrmann saying we could not give up Mollwitz and Williams for Derrick. In fact, I would not give up either one for Derrick."

"Deal Made," Herrmann Says.

CINCINNATI, O., July 9.—"The deal for Mollwitz and Williams in exchange for Derrick was closed and completed. We most certainly will hold Chicago to their end of the deal, notwithstanding reports to the contrary," said President August Herrmann of the Cincinnati National League Club today, when informed that the Chicago National League had denied officially that any trade had been made.

Manager Herzog of the Cincinnati team said:

"There will be no chance for Chicago to back out of the deal. I arranged this trade myself with Manager O'Day, who agreed to give me Mollwitz and Williams for Derrick, if I could get the latter. I went ahead and purchased Derrick and signed him to a Chicago contract. The deal is completed and it will stand."

Zimmerman Suspended, Fined.

CHICAGO, July 9.—Heine Zimmerman, the Chicago National's third baseman, today received notice from President Tener of the National League that he was suspended for three days with loss of pay for arguing too strenuously with Umpire Byron in yesterday's game. The local club also fined Zimmerman $50 and inflicted a similar penalty on Outfielder Leach for similar offenses.

JULY 9 THOUGHT.

Our destiny is our own, and it must be worked out—perhaps in fear and trembling—in our own way. If there be a cherished American doctrine, the controlling question must be: Is it right? If yea, then let us stand by it like men; if nay, have done with it, and move forward to other issues—William McKinley.

SARAJEVO MURDERS INCREASE GERMAN FEAR OF THE SLAVS

Government Expected to Ask for Further Enlargement of Army This Fall.

Copyright, (All Rights Reserved in the United States and Canada.)

BERLIN, July 9.—It is whispered about Berlin that the dual murder of Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria and his consort will be followed by a demand in the Reichstag by the German Government for another army increase this fall, on the ground that in the death of the Archduke the triple alliance has lost one of its strongest supporters.

Only last year the Reichstag granted the Government's request for an emergency tax of $250,000,000 to build a human wall bristling with bayonets and cannon along the Russian frontier against the alleged Slav danger.

The assassination of Austria's heir apparent is declared to show this danger is not a mere chimera, but of greater menace than hitherto realized. The German Emperor is said to be deeply impressed. He is credited with having implanted in the late Archduke's mind the idea of an increased Austrian army and a greater Austrian navy.

All matters affecting the two countries the Emperor discussed with Francis Ferdinand, who as commander-in-chief of the army and navy, was almost as powerful as if he were already upon the throne.

The new heir to the Austrian-Hungarian throne, Charles Francis Joseph, is merely a Major of infantry and has hardly ever been called to any conference affecting national politics. He is wholly inexperienced and is said to be easily influenced.

THE POST-DISPATCH'S DAILY RECORD OF MARKETS AND FINANCE

MO. PACIFIC IS AGAIN LOWER ON STOCK EXCHANGE

Gould Issue Drops to New Low Record at 11¼; Other Issues Steady.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 9.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"The Stock Exchange appeared today to be again under the opposing influences of the great crop estimates and the still unexplained break in Missouri Pacific securities. As a net result, prices in general moved within a narrow range; but the tendency was upward, and a few active shares gained a half to one point. This amounted practically to the regaining of yesterday's losses.

"There was a fairly sharp recovery in Missouri Pacific bonds, though only part of the recent heavy losses was made good. No fresh light was thrown on the cause or meaning of this movement.

"European stock markets moved similarly to our own, and the Paris bourse continued to give as slight reflection to the successful Government loan issue as our own has thus far given to the 930,000,000-bushel wheat crop estimate.

French Loan Well Taken.

"Interest in today's weekly European bank returns converged naturally on the French Bank's showing. It is not yet known exactly how far the $161,000,000 loan of Tuesday was oversubscribed, though a cabled estimate from the French Treasury reported it as covered 40 times.

"The bank reflects the preparations of applicants for the enormous sum involved: its general deposits have increased in the week no less than $341,000,000, chiefly a result of a $257,000,000 loan expansion.

"It is somewhat remarkable that these huge operations have not caused a ripple on the week's Paris money market. But these increased deposit liabilities can hardly be more than temporary; yet, to sustain them the bank holds $62,000,000 more gold than at the opening of June, $115,000,000 more than at the end of 1913, and $155,000,000 more than a year ago. It has gained nearly $7,000,000 gold this past week, representing part of the $11,000,000 sent from here in the closing week of June.

"That movement now being over for the season, and the Government loan about to be allotted, the future course of the bank's gold holdings will be interesting. Today's Bank of England statement was less favorable; it lost gold for the week, notwithstanding its capture of Monday's arrivals from South Africa.

Money Rates Easy.

"The banks received some currency from out-of-town markets. These receipts are likely to offset a good portion of the $11,700,000 cash loss sustained since last Friday to the Subtreasury. Although large, this net loss for the period is only half what it was a week ago, when the income tax collections were in progress. The $13,000,000 credit balance which the Subtreasury reported at the Clearing House today was an altogether extraordinary operation, representing payment for the two warships recently sold by this Government to Greece.

"There was no change in money rates. It was evident that interior banks were in the market for high-grade paper to such an extent as to insure renewal of the heavy maturities which have to be taken care of this month. Those maturities represent largely the immense purchases of paper made by banks throughout the United States, following the enactment of the Federal Reserve act in the closing days of last December."

DETAILED REPORT OF THE DAY'S WALL STREET TRANSACTIONS

NEW YORK, July 9.—The Gould issues rallied feebly from their fall of the first hour, but not before New Haven and Chesapeake & Ohio had gone lower. Selling of Chesapeake was induced by the latest order of the Interstate Commerce Commission affecting pig iron rates in the road's territory. Leaders with few exceptions sold under yesterday, but recovered before noon on increasing appreciation of the crop outlook and indications that the Federal reserve situation is likely to be satisfactorily adjusted. Washington's latest attitude towards business also was taken into general account. Bonds were easy.

NEW YORK, July 9.—Early dealings in the stock market today were notable for the number of low prices recorded. New Haven fell to 62⅜ and the Gould securities again declined substantially on moderate offerings. Missouri Pacific and Denver preferred lost 2 or 3 points, with a further drop in Missouri Pacific collaterals. Missouri Pacific Consolidated 6s and Denver common. Rock Island collaterals also joined the list of issues to register lowest quotations and Chesapeake & Ohio repeated its lowest selling price. In the active list coppers, New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio displayed pressure, while Reading, the Harrimans and U. S. Steel were up nominal fractions.

The market made further improvement in the early afternoon, but dealings became progressively smaller. Strength was shown by various specialties, including American Foundries, Consolidated Gas, Westinghouse and Western Union.

TRUST STOCKS IRREGULAR IN LOCAL MARKET

Title Trust Is Lower at $65.25; Bond List Shows Steady Tone.

ST. LOUIS CLEARINGS HOUSE.

Today	$12,379,189	$924,217
Last week	16,183,806	1,314,571
Decreases	$3,804,617	$390,354

There was an easier tone in local securities Thursday, although sales were confined to a few issues. The bank list showed some selling pressure on special stocks.

Title Trust was sharply lower on sales at $66.50 to $65.25, and closed offered at $66 with $65.50 bid. Bankers' Trust was offered at $37.75 with bids at $30. Bank of Commerce was quiet.

United Railways issues were irregular on the quotations recorded, and Granite Bimetallic Mining sold at 32½c. Cotton Compress was easier at $38.50. The bond list was about steady on the issues mentioned.

St. Louis Money Market.

Buying of commercial paper has been in smaller volume during the past four weeks than in months previously. Combined with a desire to assist country correspondents where such assistance is justified is the desire on the part of St. Louis bankers to be prepared for the operation of the new Federal reserve act when it is once set in motion, which explains the rather quiet conditions prevailing at the present time and the almost inert character of the market. Collections seem to be fairly satisfactory in some sections, but generally speaking are not satisfactory.

The Government wheat crop estimate of 930,000,000 bu proved too bearish for the bulls to handle and prices Thursday were a sharp fraction lower. Corn was strong and 1c higher, on dry weather over the growing belt and an official forecast indicating no change in conditions in the next 24 hours. Oats were firm along with corn.

The Government crop report stimulated fresh selling at the opening in Liverpool and values were ⅝d lower with support lacking. Spot markets were weak. The American movement of new wheat is liberal and private reports received indicate little if any damage to spring wheat. Continued unfavorable reports from Russia, advices of reduced acreage in Argentine and firmer offers of winters helped to check the decline. The Continent continues to absorb freely and Russian offers are firm with shipments from that quarter expected to be light this week.

Liverpool corn opened steady, unchanged, and later advanced ¼d to ½d with the undertone firm. Firmness in America yesterday, lighter Argentine shipments and complaints of the condition of arrivals of Plate at both Continental and Irish ports and very few first-hand offerings stimulated covering and induced speculative support. Plate corn arriving now at Continental and other ports was shipped during the wet period and is not meeting expectations as to quality, and it is feared that much will arrive the same way. This is causing apprehension.

Minneapolis wheat cars were 77, against 53 last week and 97 last year. Duluth, 45, against 103 and 58. Winnipeg 178, against 212 and 97. Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 900,000 bu for 5 days.

Liverpool wheat futures closed ⅝d to ¾d lower; corn, ⅝d higher.

Illinois Grain Dealers' Association crop report says: "Wheat—The reports place the yield per acre at 21.41 bu, indicating a crop of 47,950,000 bu. Oats—The acreage is given as 4,078,000 acres. Condition, 73.63, indicating a crop of 123,075,000 bu. Old oats remaining, 6.67, or 6,900,000 bu. Corn—Acreage, 10,480,000; condition, 95.22, indicating 39.33 bu per acre, or a crop of 412,175,000 bu. Old corn remaining, 16.01 per cent, indicating 28,230,000 bu."

Le Count wired from Mitchell, S. D.: "Wheat is badly affected by black rust, premature ripening, heads filling poorly. The crop has been greatly destroyed by black rust and is expected to be poorer quality than last year."

Kansas City wires: "No corn damage reports; no extreme heat. North half of Kansas had big rains up to 1¾ inches Saturday night, and south half of State had big rains Monday night. Think no damage so far, and moisture abundant."

Minneapolis wired: "Quite a few complaints reaching here this morning from important territory in Saskatchewan and Alberta claiming plant showing a burnt-out appearance and half crop best that can be expected, all due to moisture deficiency."

Clearances: Wheat, 451,000 bu; corn, 1000; oats, 3,000; flour, 11,000; wheat and flour, 501,000.

Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 900,000 bu for five days.

Chicago wheat cars Wednesday were 244, corn 101, oats 97. Inspected Thursday: Wheat 419, corn 116, oats 126.

German official report: The condition of wheat on July 1, 1914, 80; rye, 80; oats, 80. June 1 last year: Wheat, 78; rye, 76; oats, 80. July 1 last year: Wheat, 78; rye, 76; oats, 72. week 320,000 bu; last week, 360,000; last year, 360,000. Since Jan. 1 this year, 32,272,000 bu; same time last year, 95,880,000. Oats this week, 830,000; last week, nil; last year, 340,000; since Jan. 1 this year, 26,171,000; same time last year, 57,741,000. Cattle Prices Higher at Stock Yards.

T. B. Leach of St. Elmo, Ill., sold a carload of Hereford and Shorthorn steers at the St. Louis National Stockyards Thursday for $9.75 per cwt. These beeves had been carefully handled. The price is the highest that has been paid here this year. Neevr before in modern packing days nave prime fat cattle been as scarce at this season as they are at present. Salesmen say there is nothing to prevent the $10 mark being reached in the next 10 days.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., July 9.—Comparative receipts table:

Cattle	2,500	2,600	3,600

NATIVE CATTLE—Receipts today in this division were again light and below the needs of the packers. It was another rattling good market, with firm prices prevailing. Trade was active and steers topped at $9.75. There was an early clearance.

St. Louis Lead Market.

Lead was dull at $3.75@3.80 in the St. Louis market Thursday; spelter quiet at $4.80.

COTTON IS IRREGULAR; WEATHER IS A FACTOR

NEW YORK, July 9.—Steady Liverpool cables and the failure of the weather map to show any general rains in Texas seemed responsible for an opening advance of 1 to 6 points in the cotton market today. Liverpool was a good buyer of new crop months here and there seemed to be a moderate demand from trade houses and Wall street sources, but general business was quiet, and after selling about 1 to 8 points net higher prices eased off slightly under scattered realizing or local pressure, which may have been promoted by private wires indicating showers at several points in the Southwest yesterday.

The detailed weather report for the Houston district showing more rain and lower temperatures than yesterday, was followed by a reaction late in the forenoon and the market was barely steady after midday, with new crop months about 1 point lower to 3 points higher.

The precipitation reported in Texas was not considered general enough to fully relieve drouthy conditions and the market steadied during the early afternoon. August rallied to within five points of last night's close, while new crop positions sold 2 to 8 points net higher. The close was irregular.

Wool Sales Active.

LONDON, July 9.—The offerings at the wool auction sales today amounted to 12,617 bales. The demand was brisk and prices were firm. The best grades of merinos advanced from 5 to 7½ per cent. American bought fine greasy merinos and crossbreds. Punta Arenas ranged from unchanged to 5 per cent higher and Americans secured the best grades. The continent was a more active buyer. Today's sales follow:

By ROY L. McCARDELL.

Mr. Jarr's Success Is Shrouded in Doubt.

"IS the Princess Garagantua stopping here?" asked Mr. Jarr of the clerk at the inquiry desk at the big hotel.

"Sure!" said the clerk. "But she don't see nobody except through her manager or her press agent."

"Is she a real princess?" asked Mr. Jarr.

"I think so," was the reply. "I just come on duty, but I seen her baggage go up, and every piece of it's got her name and trade-mark on it?"

"What do you mean, trade-mark?" asked Mr. Jarr.

"Why, a nobility trade-mark—like them English breeches-makers to the King print in the London papers, or what you see on a bottle of foreign mixed pickles," explained the clerk. "You know, swell dames in this country use them on their writing paper."

"Oh, I see!" said Mr. Jarr. "Her coat-of-arms or crest."

"You get me!" said the clerk. "Well, all this lady's baggage has got her nobility trade-mark on it—a dancing elephant."

"But why should she have a press agent?" asked Mr. Jarr.

"They all have them these days," replied the astute inquiry clerk. "But anyway a lady—here's a card, 'Mrs. Marmaduke Stalker'— is with the press agent.

"Well, I'll see the Princess's manager, then," said Mr. Jarr. "But I never heard of a princess having a manager. Perhaps you mean her major-domo?"

"That ain't his name at all," said the clerk. "He ain't even a major. His name is Barker—yes, William Barker."

Mr. Jarr sent his card to the manager, but word came that the manager was out, and Mr. Jarr sat around with a feling that it must have been in a moment of desperation he had accepted such a delicate mission—securing the attendance of a princess at a women's club reception.

He had 74 cents and he realized that if Mrs. Marmaduke Stalker had forestalled him and would clinch the prestige of the seceding and alleged socially superior faction—the Grande Dames of America—by having the Princess of Garagantua present at HER reception the faction that had elected Mrs. Bethulia Beezwacks would desert her ignominiously and go over to the enemy, leaving Mrs. Jarr and Mrs. Mudridge-Smith outside the social barrier!

The very thought of it made Mr. Jarr's hair stand on end—not the thought of the social exile that would follow the rout of Mrs. Jarr's faction in this ladies' war, but what would happen to him after that happened to Mrs. Beezwacks, Mrs. Jarr and Mrs. Mudridge-Smith, especially as Mrs. Jarr had first thought of getting the social patronage of the Princess.

"Here comes the press agent now," whispered the inquiry clerk, rousing Mr. Jarr from his standing swoon by the desk. "There he comes with Mrs. Marmaduke Stalker!"

Mrs. Stalker was an ample and portly woman with the dewlaps of a turkey, the eye of a hawk, the nose of an eagle and the bosom of a pouter pigeon, the strut of a peacock, and, though Mr. Jarr did not know this, the appetite of an ostrich. In short, Mrs. Marmaduke Stalker was a bird!

But it was not the appearance of this formidable female personage that caused Mr. Jarr to rise on his tip toes with sudden nervous excitement. That emotional response to what he saw was occasioned by the fact that what he saw was not only Mrs. Marmaduke Stalker but the Princess Garagantua's press agent in earnest conversation with the leader of the seceding women's clubs of the convention—for the press agent was none other than that prince of publicity promoters, Harold Dogstory!

Mr. Jarr dodged behind a large and rankly green artificial palm, not noticing in his excitement that the palm had been freshly painted. He permitted the ladybird clubwoman and press agent to pass, when the latter had bidden the former goodby with the remark: "The Princess cannot personally be seen on these matters, but her terms are a guarantee of $100 a day, with the receipts over that split fifty-fifty!"

Mr. Jarr sped away unseen, and bursting in upon his wife and her friends at the other hotel exclaimed. "It is too late! Mrs. Marmaduke Stalker, the iron-faced lady, has got a first lien on the Princess!"

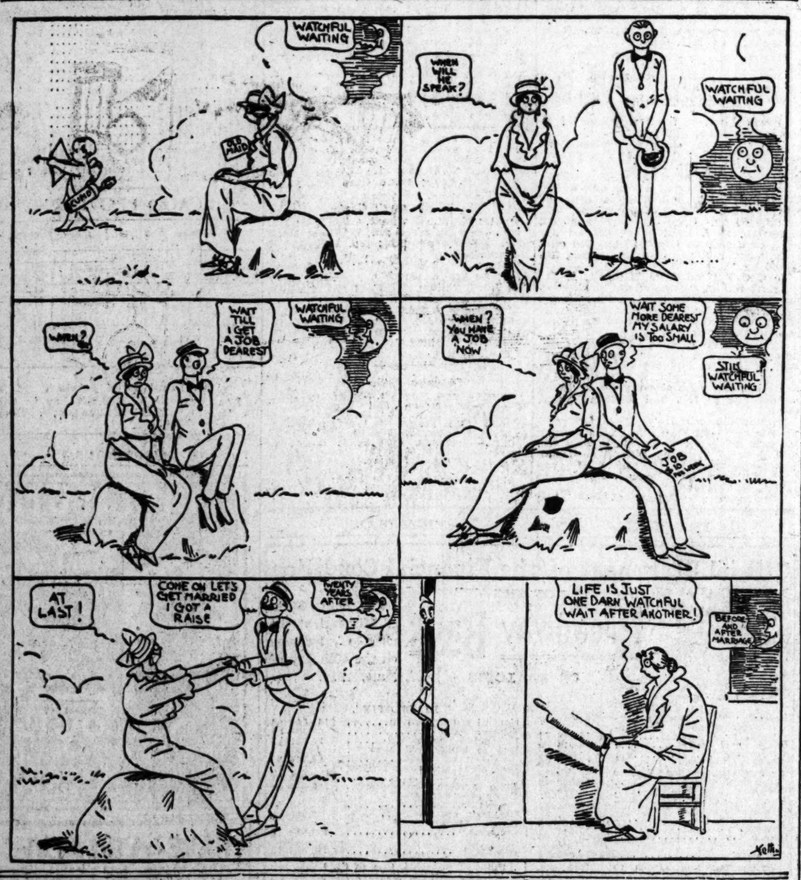

In a Hurry.

"You seem to be in a hurry," said Mrs. Harlem to her dressmaker.

"Yes, ma'am: I have a train to make."

Pretty Hard to Miss.

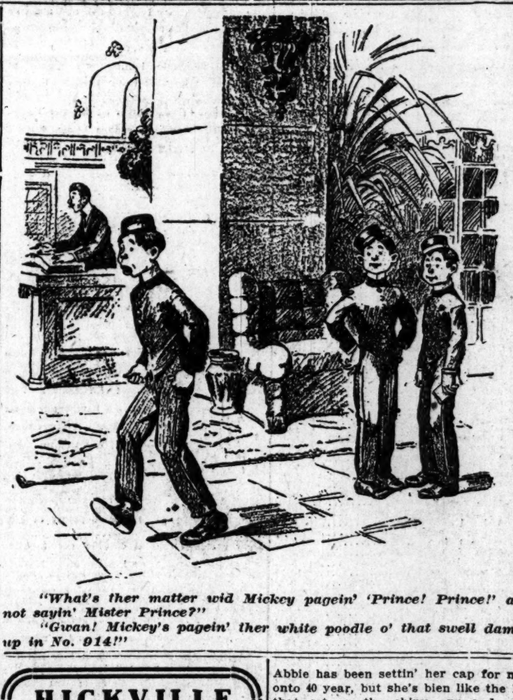

"I OVERSAW and overheard this delightful little thing in an alley running north from Payne avenues yesterday," says a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer:

"Two boys were fighting. One was a very fat boy and the other was very skinny. The thin one had a backer, however, who seemed to be very wise to all the technicalities of the manly art of self-defense.

"'Hit him in the solar plexus, Kid,' shouted the second. 'Hit him in the solar plexus, an' you'll put th' big tub out!'

"'Where's his solar plexus at?' panted the thin one.

"'Aw, hit him anywhere—you can't miss it!'" answered the backer.

"What's ther matter wid Mickey pagein' 'Prince! Prince!' and not sayin' Mister Prince?"
"Gwan! Mickey's pagein' ther white poodle o' that swell dame's up in No. 914!"

FRAUD is being attempted against the users of Presto-O-Lite

Be on guard against the nameless and worthless tanks which certain parties are now endeavoring to palm off on Prest-O-Lite users in St. Louis and vicinity.

Your Prest-O-Lite, when empty, can be promptly exchanged anywhere and everywhere. The dealer who takes a Presto-O-Lite away from you can sell it easily. But a counterfeit is worthless and has no responsible exchange service behind it.

Besides, a counterfeit gives you very inferior lighting service.

Don't allow anyone to take away your ability to get Prest-O-Lite service.

Before you accept any cylinder in exchange for your Prest-O-Lite,

Look for the Prest-O-Lite trade mark

Tear off any paper labels and look for the name Prest-O-Lite, etched in large letters on the side of the cylinder.

If the cylinder does not clearly show the word "Prest-O-Lite," without any guess work, it is NOT a genuine Prest-O-Lite, and is not accepted for exchange service by any Prest-O-Lite dealer.

Look at your cylinder today and see if a counterfeit has already been palmed off on you. If so, demand the return of your Prest-O-Lite. Communicate with us promptly and we will gladly help you recover your property.
